

SHEconomy | India's Largest Digital Platform for Women Entrepreneurs

Women entrepreneurs are empowered in India through real-time communications as well as collaboration tools and better business networking capabilities.

New Delhi, Delhi Feb 12, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - SHEconomy is a rapidly growing digital platform specifically designed for female entrepreneurs has recently announced the release of a number of innovative new features inside its application, such as video chat, audio calls capability within chats, push notifications and a specifically-designed co-work function. The upgrades are an important improvement in the ecosystem of women entrepreneurs and improving the user experience for hundreds of women-owned businesses that utilize the platform.

SHEconomy has established itself as the leading woman-friendly business network in India that is designed to help women entrepreneurs with a vibrant online marketplace India as well as a community-driven platform. Through these new enhancements, SHEconomy is reinforcing its dedication to being the largest digital platform specifically designed for women entrepreneurs across the nation.

Strengthening the Women Entrepreneur Community Through Real-Time Communication

The new audio chat and video chat functions in the chat app system are designed to facilitate the communication between businesses more efficiently, seamlessly and more intimate. Women entrepreneurs are now able to connect instantaneously with customers, suppliers as well as mentors, collaborators as well as other members of the community of women entrepreneurs.

In the current competitive e-commerce India market, rapid communication is essential. When it comes to discussing bulk orders, concluding collaborations, examining women-led startups, or guiding young entrepreneurs, a seamless flow of communications builds trust and speeds the growth.

The audio and video calling capabilities make SHEconomy more than an online market place specifically for women, but also an entire woman-owned business support system that converts conversations into collaborations and new opportunities.

A representative from SHEconomy tells about:

"Our purpose has been to support women who are entrepreneurs with the tools, networks and infrastructure. By integrating audio and video communications built into our app, we're creating more business connections and quicker decisions for women-led business in India."

Push Notifications for Real-Time Business Opportunities

The most significant features are the notification push system to ensure that users do not lose the chance to make a mistake.

If you're a woman running an online company or running a woman operating an online shop, timing is key. By utilizing push notifications, customers will receive notifications immediately for:

- New customer enquiries
- Order updates

- Contacts from potential collaborators
- Mentorship opportunities
- Community announcements
- Invitations to business networking

This improvement significantly increases the participation in the women-owned marketplace in India and helps SHEconomy to establish itself as a trusted marketplace for women entrepreneurs.

Women who are creating a business with a minimal investment or starting their first online store in India Real-time alerts could mean faster responses and better customer service as well as increased conversion.

Introducing Co-Work: A Digital Collaboration Space for Women Led Startups

One of the highlights is the Co-Work new feature that is designed to turn SHEconomy into an interactive Women-led entrepreneurial ecosystem.

Co-work allows female entrepreneurs to:

- Collaboration in initiatives
- Establish businesses partnerships
- Participate in industry-specific working groups
- Exchange knowledge and share expertise
- Products and services that are co-created
- Think of women's startup ideas

This program is a response to the increasing need for structured collaboration in the female-focused entrepreneur space. Women entrepreneurs in India are seeking not just the women-only marketplace, but also an environment that allows them to collaborate and develop.

With the addition of co-work functions, SHEconomy strengthens its identity as a platform for women entrepreneurs and a support network for women entrepreneurs.
