

Technostacks Launches Zerobounce Email Validation Extension for Zoho CRM

Technostacks introduces the ZeroBounce Email Validation extension for Zoho CRM—bringing real-time accuracy and cleaner data directly to your workflow.

Dallas, Texas Feb 5, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - Technostacks, a digital transformation and enterprise solutions company, today announced the launch of the Zerobounce Email Validation Extension for Zoho CRM, a new productivity app designed to help sales and marketing teams maintain clean, reliable, and campaign-ready CRM databases through real-time and bulk email verification.

As organizations scale their outbound efforts, data quality has become a silent bottleneck in performance. Invalid, disposable, and risky email addresses reduce deliverability, distort campaign metrics, and slow down revenue teams that depend on fast, accurate engagement. The Zerobounce Email Validation Extension for Zoho CRM addresses this challenge directly within the CRM environment, removing the need for external tools or complex workflows.

Built Where Teams Work

The extension integrates natively with Zoho CRM, allowing users to validate email addresses when they are added or updated. This real-time verification ensures that only usable, high-quality contact data enters the system.

For existing records, teams can run bulk validation on multiple leads or contacts in a single action, making large-scale data cleanup faster and more operationally efficient.

“CRM systems are meant to be engines for growth, but that only works when the data inside them can be trusted,” said a spokesperson from Technostacks. “This extension brings email validation into the daily workflow of sales and marketing teams, so accuracy becomes automatic rather than an afterthought.”

Designed for Campaign Performance and Revenue Impact

By identifying invalid, disposable, and high-risk email addresses before campaigns go out, the extension helps organizations:

- Reduce bounce rates and protect sender reputation
- Improve inbox placement and deliverability
- Increase response rates through cleaner targeting
- Strengthen reporting accuracy and pipeline insights

The result is a CRM database that supports confident decision-making and more consistent campaign performance across sales and marketing functions.
