

Transport Chronicle plans to launch a global business directory for transportation companies

The image shows the logo for Transport Chronicle, which consists of the word "transport" in a lowercase, sans-serif font, followed by the word "chronicle" in a bold, uppercase, sans-serif font. The "chronicle" part is enclosed in a white, rounded rectangular shape that tapers at the ends, set against a black background.

Boston, Massachusetts Feb 28, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - Transport Chronicle, a leading source for global transport news, is excited to announce the upcoming launch of its Global Transportation Business Directory — a comprehensive, dedicated online platform designed to connect transportation companies, logistics providers, airlines, shipping firms, taxi operators, cruise lines, and related service providers worldwide.

Delhi, India – February 28, 2026 — Transport Chronicle (transportchronicle.com), the premier online publication delivering timely news, insights, trends, and innovations across road transport, aviation, maritime, taxis, cruises, logistics, and intercity mobility, today unveiled plans to launch a powerful new Global Transportation Business Directory.

Set to go live in the coming months, this specialized directory will serve as a one-stop hub for businesses in the transportation and mobility sector to showcase their services, reach international audiences, and discover potential partners, clients, and opportunities across continents.

Key Features of the Global Transportation Business Directory:

- Categorized Listings — Easy navigation by sub-sectors including Airlines & Aviation Services, Road Transport & Trucking, Logistics & Supply Chain, Taxi & Ride-Hailing, Shipping & Maritime, Cruise Lines, Intercity Bus & Rail Operators, EV & Sustainable Mobility Providers, Infrastructure & Technology Firms, and more.
- Global Reach with Regional Focus — Emphasis on companies operating in high-growth markets like India, the United States, Europe, Southeast Asia, the Middle East, and beyond, reflecting Transport Chronicle's established coverage of international routes, policies, and developments.
- Enhanced Visibility — Search-engine-friendly profiles with company descriptions, contact details, services offered, fleet information, certifications, key executives, recent news, and direct website links.
- Networking & Lead Generation — Tools for businesses to connect, including inquiry forms, partnership highlights, and integration with Transport Chronicle's news and press release sections for maximum exposure.
- Free & Premium Options — Basic listings available at no cost to encourage broad participation, with premium upgrades offering featured placements, priority search rankings, multimedia uploads (logos, photos, videos), analytics, and promotional banners on the Transport Chronicle platform.

"Transport Chronicle has long been committed to spotlighting the pulse of the global transportation industry — from policy changes and route expansions to sustainability innovations and achiever spotlights," said Rooturaj Pattanaik, Founder/Editor of Transport Chronicle. "The Global Transportation Business Directory is a natural evolution of that mission. It will empower companies of all sizes — from emerging startups in India's logistics sector to established international carriers — to gain greater visibility, forge meaningful connections, and drive business growth in an increasingly interconnected world."

The directory aims to address a key industry need: a centralized, transport-specific platform that goes beyond generic business directories, offering targeted discoverability for stakeholders in aviation, freight, passenger mobility, and emerging technologies like electric vehicles, drones, and autonomous systems.

Launch Timeline & Participation:

- Beta Testing & Early Listings — Opening soon for select companies and partners.
- Official Launch — Expected in Q2/Q3 2026, with full public access and promotional campaigns across Transport Chronicle's website, social channels, and newsletter.
- Call for Early Registrations — Transportation businesses interested in priority inclusion or premium features are encouraged to express interest via the website contact form or by emailing info@transportchronicle.com.

Transport Chronicle invites all transportation professionals, companies, and industry associations to stay tuned for more details and to prepare their profiles for this exciting new resource.
