

America's Best In Medicine Recognizes Mark Silverberg, DDS, MD, For Bridging Medicine, Innovation, And Leadership

Board-Certified Anesthesiologist and Healthcare Executive Develops Practical Medical Solutions and Supports Advancements in Patient Care and Family Building

Deerfield, Illinois Mar 23, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Mark Silverberg, DDS, MD, is a board-certified anesthesiologist and accomplished healthcare executive whose career spans decades of clinical medicine, healthcare management, and medical innovation. With a strong foundation in both dentistry and medicine, Dr. Silverberg has dedicated his professional life to improving patient care while developing practical solutions to challenges faced in healthcare environments.

Dr. Silverberg earned his Medical Degree from the Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis and completed his anesthesiology residency training through the University of Illinois/Humana Michael Reese Anesthesiology Residency Program. Over the course of nearly 20 years, he provided anesthesia services in office-based and ambulatory surgical settings throughout the Greater Chicago area. His experience in the operating room environment gave him extensive insight into patient safety, perioperative care, and the operational demands of modern surgical practice.

Building on his clinical expertise, Dr. Silverberg is also the Managing Member of HEATJAC, LLC, an innovative company behind a patented temperature-regulating garment designed to address extreme cold exposure in operating rooms and other demanding environments. Often described as a “wearable radiator,” HEATJAC projects heat outward to warm the space between garments, improving comfort while helping mitigate infection-control concerns associated with forced-air warming misuse. The technology has broad potential applications, benefiting medical and military professionals, outdoor workers and enthusiasts, as well as individuals living with conditions such as Raynaud’s syndrome.

In addition to his work in medical innovation, Dr. Silverberg serves as Executive Director of Private Label Surrogacy and has held leadership roles with National Surrogate Record Review. In these positions, he applies his medical expertise to assist intended parents, fertility centers, and surrogacy agencies by conducting thorough medical record evaluations. Through this work, he helps support the safe and thoughtful coordination of third-party fertility treatments, contributing to the journey of families seeking to grow through surrogacy.

Throughout his career, Dr. Mark Silverberg has distinguished himself as a professional who successfully bridges medicine, management, and invention. By combining physician insight, operational leadership, and innovative thinking, he continues to contribute to advancements that improve patient care, healthcare efficiency, and quality of life for individuals and families alike.
