CLEAR AI

Raleigh, North Carolina Mar 19, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - BidTrex Launches Innovative Reverse Bidding Platform, Transforming the Home Repair Industry

BidTrex today officially launched its groundbreaking reverse bidding platform, designed to connect homeowners with licensed contractors in a transparent, competitive marketplace. Contractors list their available services, schedules, and areas of expertise. Homeowners, utilizing artificial intelligence, submit competitive bids for the services they need. Contractors review the offers and either accept the best one or issue a counter-bid—ensuring optimal value, flexibility, and immediate project alignment.

At the core of the platform is BidTrex’s patent-pending Auto-Bid™ technology, which enables contractors to automatically generate and submit counter-bids in response to homeowners’ offers based on pre-set parameters such as minimum acceptable price, availability, project scope, and location. This intelligent automation dramatically reduces response time and administrative burden while preserving full control and transparency for contractors.

Drawing inspiration from the seamless efficiency of modern on-demand services, BidTrex eliminates the traditional delays and guesswork associated with securing home repairs. Contractors receive multiple competitive offers within minutes, while homeowners gain immediate access to qualified service providers.

“We are fundamentally transforming the home repair industry by replacing inefficiency and opacity with speed, competition, and trust—just as Uber revolutionized personal transportation,” said David Mehmet, Founder and CEO of BidTrex. “BidTrex delivers the right contractor at the right price, instantly.”

Homeowners and contractors are invited to join the platform today at www.BidTrex.com.
