New York City, New York Mar 4, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - Gastroenterology and Nutrition, P.C., a leading digestive health practice in Queens, continues to provide comprehensive gastrointestinal care for patients seeking expert diagnosis and treatment of digestive disorders. Located in Forest Hills, the practice is known for offering advanced procedures and compassionate care from experienced specialists, including board-certified physicians dedicated to improving long-term digestive health.

Patients searching for a gastroenterologist in Queens often seek a provider who combines clinical expertise with personalized care. At Gastroenterology and Nutrition, P.C., the team focuses on preventive care, accurate diagnosis, and modern treatment methods to address a wide range of digestive conditions. The practice offers services including screening colonoscopies, diagnostic endoscopy, capsule endoscopy, hemorrhoid treatment, and comprehensive management of gastrointestinal disorders.

Founded by board-certified gastroenterologist Dr. Samuel Davidoff, MD, the practice has served the Forest Hills community since 2008. Over the years, the clinic has built a strong reputation for delivering high-quality digestive healthcare in a comfortable and private office environment. Patients benefit from a state-of-the-art facility equipped with advanced technology designed to provide precise diagnostic results and safe procedures without requiring hospital visits.

“Preventive care is one of the most important aspects of digestive health,” said Dr. Davidoff. “Many serious conditions can be detected early through routine screenings. Our goal is to help patients stay healthy by identifying potential issues before they become more serious.”

Colorectal cancer screening remains a central focus of the practice. A colonoscopy in Queens is widely recognized as the most effective method for detecting colon cancer in its early stages and removing precancerous polyps before they develop into more serious conditions. Gastroenterology and Nutrition, P.C. provides comprehensive colonoscopy services in a modern endoscopy suite designed for patient comfort and safety.

The clinic’s physicians also diagnose and treat a wide range of gastrointestinal conditions, including acid reflux (GERD), inflammatory bowel disease, Crohn’s disease, liver disorders, abdominal pain, and other digestive concerns. Using advanced endoscopic techniques and evidence-based treatment strategies, the medical team provides patients with thorough evaluations and customized care plans.

Joining Dr. Samuel Davidoff is Dr. Yuriy Israel, MD, a board-certified gastroenterologist specializing in digestive and liver diseases. Together with family nurse practitioner Emanuel Yaakovov, FNP-BC, the team delivers collaborative care focused on improving digestive wellness for patients throughout Queens and surrounding communities.

The practice emphasizes a patient-centered approach that prioritizes communication, education, and individualized treatment. Physicians take time to explain diagnoses, discuss available treatment options, and guide patients toward healthier lifestyle habits that support long-term digestive health.

Patients seeking a top gastroenterologist in Queens often choose Gastroenterology and Nutrition, P.C. because of the clinic’s commitment to clinical excellence, modern technology, and compassionate care. The practice also provides flexible scheduling options, including weekday appointments and limited Sunday availability, to accommodate busy patient schedules.

Conveniently located in Forest Hills, the clinic serves patients across Queens and nearby neighborhoods. The multilingual staff helps ensure that patients from diverse backgrounds receive clear communication and personalized support throughout their care journey.

With more than a decade of service to the community, Gastroenterology and Nutrition, P.C. remains dedicated to advancing digestive health through preventive care, early detection, and patient-focused treatment.
