Rockport, Texas Mar 23, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - G&H Construction, a trusted general contractor with three generations of coastal building expertise, announces its focus on helping Rockport homeowners plan summer outdoor living space projects. With 30 years of experience and deep roots in the Rockport community, the family-owned company emphasizes that properly designed coastal outdoor spaces extend living areas while withstanding Gulf Coast weather conditions.

Founded by Rocky Gudim, CEO, alongside Lead Designer Melinda, G&H Construction brings both structural expertise and design vision to outdoor living projects throughout Rockport and surrounding communities, including Port Aransas, Aransas Pass, and nearby coastal areas.

"Summer is when Rockport families really live outdoors," said Rocky Gudim, CEO of G&H Construction. "We help homeowners create outdoor spaces that work for coastal living—patios that handle salt air, decks that withstand humidity, outdoor kitchens built for entertaining. Our three generations of coastal experience mean we know how to build outdoor living spaces that last decades, not just seasons."

G&H Construction's story begins decades ago in Rockport, where Rocky's grandfather began learning coastal construction from the ground up. This knowledge, passed down through three generations, ensures outdoor living projects use materials and techniques specifically chosen for Gulf Coast environments.

The company specializes in outdoor living space construction including covered patios that provide shade and weather protection, custom decks built with coastal-appropriate materials, outdoor kitchens designed for entertaining and Gulf Coast cooking, pergolas and shade structures that enhance outdoor comfort, and hardscaping that complements coastal landscaping.

Melinda brings design expertise to outdoor living projects, working closely with Rockport homeowners to create spaces that embrace coastal lifestyle. "Summer in Rockport means outdoor entertaining, family gatherings, and enjoying our beautiful weather," Melinda explained. "We design outdoor spaces that maximize those experiences while accounting for sun exposure, prevailing breezes, and the practical realities of coastal living."

Outdoor living space design includes considerations unique to coastal environments such as material selection resistant to salt air corrosion, proper drainage for Gulf Coast rain patterns, structural anchoring for wind resistance, shade planning for intense summer sun, and integration with existing coastal landscaping.

G&H Construction's three-generation knowledge ensures outdoor projects incorporate proper moisture management, appropriate material selection, and construction techniques that deliver lasting results in Gulf Coast conditions. This expertise prevents common problems that occur when contractors apply standard building practices to coastal outdoor spaces.

Rocky's decades of hands-on experience inform every outdoor living decision. "Rockport is where our family's story began," Gudim emphasized. "We treat every outdoor project here with special care because this community means everything to us."

Summer outdoor living projects often include multiple elements working together—covered patios connecting to outdoor kitchens, decks with built-in seating, pergolas providing shade over dining areas. G&H Construction coordinates these elements for cohesive outdoor living spaces.
