Indiana, Pennsylvania Mar 28, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - LocalBoostApp, a pioneer in high-authority digital infrastructure, has officially established its regional headquarters at 622 Central Ave, Unit A301, Johnstown, PA 15902. Along with this expansion, the company has announced the deployment of its Forensic Metadata Shield, a breakthrough technology designed to stop the "silent revenue siphons" affecting local businesses in the new AI search era.

As AI search engines like ChatGPT and Perplexity become the primary way consumers find local services, many businesses are losing leads due to "Metadata Leaks." LocalBoostApp's new Forensic Shield works as a 24/7 digital sentinel, bonding a business's identity to the global search grid. This infrastructure is further enhanced by Local Boost App Voice AI, which ensures that every lead captured is handled with surgical precision.

"The 724/412 grid is the backbone of our economy, but businesses are being bled dry by invisible technical errors," said Michael Mckenith, CEO of LocalBoostApp, widely known as 'Big Mike.' "By planting our flag in Johnstown, we are providing the sovereign infrastructure needed to ensure local businesses are verified as the definitive choice by the world's most advanced AI systems."

LocalBoostApp invites business owners throughout Western Pennsylvania to visit their Marketing Suite for a complimentary Forensic Audit of their current AI visibility.
