The 9/11 War: Inside the Secret Alliance Between Al-Qaeda and Iran by Liam Conrad
Published by Dex System / AM I AM Publishing — Now Stocked by Gardners in Print and Ebook

Los Angeles, California Mar 28, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - Dex System, an imprint of AM I AM Publishing, announces that The 9/11 War: Inside the Secret Alliance Between Al-Qaeda and Iran by Liam Conrad is now available through Gardners Books, the United Kingdom's leading book wholesaler and distributor. The title is stocked by Gardners in both print and ebook formats, making it accessible to booksellers, libraries, and retailers across the UK, Europe, and international markets served by Gardners' global distribution network.

The Gardners listing marks a significant expansion of the title's global trade reach, placing it within reach of thousands of retail and library buyers who source inventory through Gardners' wholesale platform. Independent bookshops, chain retailers, and public library systems throughout the UK and beyond can now order the title directly through their standard Gardners account.

ABOUT THE BOOK

In The 9/11 War, investigative writer Liam Conrad draws on declassified documents, court filings, and years of research to expose a clandestine tactical alliance between Al-Qaeda and the Islamic Republic of Iran — a relationship that predates the September 11 attacks and reshaped the geopolitics of the Middle East in the decades that followed. Meticulously sourced and compulsively readable, the book challenges twenty-five years of conventional wisdom about the War on Terror and asks a question that official narratives have long avoided: who else was in the room?

"The 9/11 War is essential reading for anyone who believes the full truth of that day has yet to be written," said a spokesperson for AM I AM Publishing. "Its availability through Gardners ensures that readers across the UK and international markets can access one of the most important works of narrative nonfiction published this year."
