Video Promotion Club uses three kinds of ad formats in order to create dynamic ad campaigns. The first one is In-feed video ads, where the video content is promoted as an ad with other similar video content on YouTube. This helps to reach like-minded and relevant audiences from the niche who share similar interests. Similarly, they use In-stream ads where the video is shown as a commercial ad when a user plays another video. Users are able to watch the video, click on it, or skip it after 5 seconds. Lastly, they utilize featured result ads where the video is displayed as a 'search' ad at the top of relevant YouTube search results. This ad type can help to improve online presence on YouTube with better visibility. Each ad campaign is customized based on the promotional needs of each creator.

Availing of a promotional package from Video Promotion Club is very easy for all kinds of users, as it gets done within 2-3 steps. Firstly, the creator is required to submit the URL for the YouTube video that needs to be promoted, and then comes the target audiences along with a preferred region for promotion, as the company can provide global and local exposure both. After paying the budget for the ad campaign through an easy and flexible payment method, the promotional campaign gets started within 24 hours and runs until the desired results are reached.
