

SIGNFORCE Highlights Local Manufacturing Advantage in Upstate South Carolina Sign Industry

Spartanburg, South Carolina Mar 20, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - SIGNFORCE, a locally owned and operated sign company serving the Upstate since 2009, is reinforcing its commitment to quality, craftsmanship, and community by emphasizing what sets it apart in today's sign industry: everything is produced locally, by experienced professionals, in two convenient locations, one in Greenville and one in Spartanburg.

In an industry increasingly dominated by franchise models that outsource fabrication, SIGNFORCE continues to operate independently—designing, manufacturing, and delivering signage directly from its Upstate facilities in Greenville and Spartanburg. With two convenient locations, customers have easy access to meet with the team, review projects, and stay connected throughout the process. This hands-on approach allows the company to maintain full control over quality, timelines, and pricing, giving customers a level of reliability and responsiveness that is often difficult to match.

“Many sign companies today are essentially resellers,” explained Eric Blagg, one of the local owners of SIGNFORCE. “They handle the sale, but the actual production happens somewhere else. At SIGNFORCE, we build what we sell. That means better quality control, faster turnaround times, and more value for our clients.”

SIGNFORCE's in-house capabilities span a wide range of signage solutions, including channel letters, monument signs, street signs, banners, vehicle graphics, and more. By keeping production local, the company is able to respond quickly to project needs while ensuring every detail meets its standards.

A key part of that consistency comes from the people behind the work. SIGNFORCE employs skilled sign craftsmen with decades of experience, many of whom have been in the industry since the 1990s and early 2000's. Their expertise brings a level of precision and pride to each project that reflects a deep understanding of both traditional sign-making techniques and modern fabrication methods.

Beyond craftsmanship, SIGNFORCE's local-first approach supports the Upstate community by creating jobs, strengthening the regional economy, and providing businesses with a trusted partner that understands the local market.

“Our clients aren't just customers—they're our neighbors,” Mr. Blagg added. “We take pride in helping local businesses look their best because we're part of the same community and have been for decades.”

As businesses continue to seek dependable partners for their branding and signage needs, SIGNFORCE remains focused on delivering high-quality, locally produced solutions backed by experience, accountability, and a commitment to doing things the right way.
