Alpine, Utah Mar 24, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - SnapInspect is helping The Farbman Group move faster, inspect better, and manage properties using smart property inspection software. And honestly, it shows right away through their success with polished property reporting.

First, let's set the stage. Commercial portfolios can be complex. Multiple buildings. Multiple states. Endless inspections. Traditionally, that means slower property condition assessments & reporting, unclear instructions on any follow-ups, and wasted hours on-site trying to find notes and write down observations. Now, that's changing.

A smarter way to handle inspections

A few years ago, the journey began. SnapInspect partnered with The Farbman Group, one of the Midwest's most established commercial real estate firms, and from there, things started to shift quickly.

Instead of the property management team spending hours on report formatting in the pursuit of delivering a high-quality end product for their inspections, Farbman rolled out SnapInspect across its entire portfolio. Office, high-rises, industrial, you name it. As a result, inspection teams now create clean, professional reports instantly from the SnapInspect mobile property inspection app. On-site. No holdups or hours wasted looking around for the right checklist or trying to remember what the point of this inspection was. No back-and-forth.

"Even though it was taking them 3 hours, the reports looked as if we did them in 5 minutes. The owners didn't see the hard work that our team was putting into these." Said Jordan Valseck, a property manager with the Farbman group. "If you're looking for something that sets you apart in this industry (property management), where you have to give detailed reports with photos and regularly check in on properties or assets, there are so many uses for SnapInspect!"

And just like that, reporting went from a glitch in their smooth process to one of their strengths and an operation the entire team could be proud of and bring in a noticeable return on investment for.

Faster reports. Better decisions and an easy digital inspection system.

The main problem here was that before SnapInspect, property inspections took time. Then more time to write up. It was physical work, but the manual admin. Then, even more time to share with stakeholders and clients.

Now, everything happens in one flow. Because the inspection system their team uses is cloud-based technology with centralized records and mobile accessibility, property managers are walking the property. Capturing photos and comments in seconds and making sure any follow-up tasks are logged and dealt with as they find them in a building. The magic happens with generating instant reports & sharing these with the team and any clients as needed, anytime anywhere.

In fact, teams are completing reports in a fraction of the time compared to legacy inspection software. As one senior property manager at Farbman acknowledges, it's the quality and speed of the inspection reports SnapInspect produces that are unlike anything used before. Teams can generate a complete, professional-grade report on the spot. It's been a game-changer.

And that word—game-changer—comes up a lot. What industry leaders are saying

Jordan Velsack, speaking about the platform in a recent video, highlighted something simple but powerful: "It's the tools that you use to make you that horse ahead of the race..." That's the real shift. Not just faster inspections. Better operations and more dialed-in technology that actually makes your life easier and is easy for teams to use every day, making sure there are minimal learning curves for rolling out a new system so business can continue and grow as usual.

Built specifically for commercial real estate

Snapnspect is built for commercial real estate. Not adapted. Not patched together.

And that matters. Because commercial inspections aren't simple. They require structure, consistency, and accuracy across large portfolios.

With SnapInspect, teams can:

- Generate branded, client-ready reports instantly
- Use tailored checklists for every property type
- Capture photos and notes in real time
- Work offline and sync automatically

So instead of trying to remember or piecing things together later, everything is done right the first time. From hours of admin... to minutes and possibly even seconds

Here's where the real impact shows up, as seen from SnapInspect's 5-star client reviews from directors who have used the system for 9+ years across properties. Traditionally, inspectors spend hours after a site visit writing reports. That's time lost. And cost is added.

Get Your Time Back Today

Time matters more than most teams realize, especially in commercial property management, where big deals take big time chunks and big brainpower!

As Benjamin Franklin once said, "Lost time is never found again."

With SnapInspect, teams spend less time chasing reports and more time actually managing their properties and home with the family in the afternoons. Things move quicker. Reports look better. And everyone stays on the same page.

So if property inspections are still slowing things down, it might be time to make them... a little easier.
