

Stated Introduces a Public Commitment Platform Focused on Execution and Verifiable Outcomes

A new platform introduces public commitments, proof-based completion, and open visibility — even for non-users.

Stated
PUBLIC ACCOUNTABILITY PLATFORM

Put your word on the line.

Most people don't struggle with setting goals.
They struggle with following through.

- Post publicly
- Track progress
- Build credibility
- Browse free — no signup
- Share any commitment

Start free — app.stated.in

5 free commitments · No credit card required

app.stated.in

Ahmedabad, Gujarat May 14, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - Most People Fail Their Commitments - Stated Turns Them Into Public Proof and Credibility

People don't fail because they lack motivation.

They fail because no one is watching.

Most commitments — whether it's getting fit, learning a skill, or building something — remain private. And when no one sees them, they're easy to abandon.

Stated, founded by Avdhesh Kumbhar, is built on a simple idea:

when commitments are public, follow-through improves.

Stated is a public accountability platform where individuals can:

- Create commitments and define clear goals

- Share updates as they make progress
- Mark commitments as completed with proof (links, images, or notes)
- Build a public credibility profile based on what they actually finish

What makes Stated different is its open visibility layer.

Anyone can:

- Browse commitments
- View progress and proof
- Commitments and share views
- Share commitments
- Share Public Profile
- without even signing up.

However, actions like cheering, following users, and engaging deeply require an account, creating a balance between openness and participation.

Unlike habit trackers or productivity apps that focus on private tracking, Stated focuses on public outcomes and verifiable progress.

Most platforms help you plan or track. Stated focuses on what you actually complete and makes it visible.

Built for individuals and companies alike, Stated helps people, teams, and organizations turn commitments into visible outcomes and build credibility through consistent execution.

Social platforms connect people.

Professional platforms showcase careers.

Content platforms entertain.

Stated is built to showcase what you follow through on.

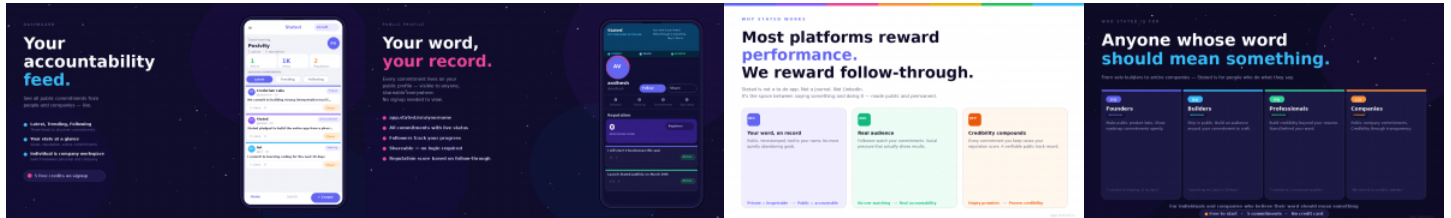

The internet shows who you are.

Stated shows what you actually do.

The platform is currently available with a free plan, allowing users to create commitments, share updates, and experience public accountability.

Users can explore the platform at <https://app.stated.in>

Stated is founded by Avdhesh Kumbhar and is built in India for the world, with a focus on helping individuals and companies turn intentions into visible outcomes and build credibility through consistent execution. The platform itself was intentionally built entirely from an Android mobile phone, without ever using a laptop or desktop — making it the first commitment completed and proven on Stated.

Media Contact

Dinesh Rathod

@stated.in

<https://app.stated.in>

Source : Stated

See on IssueWire