

Young Model Victoria Freyman: From First Runway Steps to International Fashion Shows

New York City, New York Mar 14, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Success in the fashion industry often begins with a dream, but it only continues through discipline, persistence, and support. The story of Victoria reflects how early dedication and strong motivation can shape a promising career in modeling.

Today Victoria is finishing school in Moscow while actively building her professional path. Despite her young age, she already has runway experience in multiple countries, collaborations with designers, and the role of a brand ambassador. On social media she can be found under the account Inst: Victoria.Freyman, where she shares photoshoots and moments from behind the scenes of the fashion world.

An important part of her confidence did not come only from modeling. For six years Victoria (Victoria.Freyman) has been practicing equestrian sport, specifically show jumping. Working with horses requires strength, patience, and emotional control. According to her, this experience helped develop posture, balance, and composure, qualities that later became essential on the runway.

Her modeling journey started at the age of nine when she enrolled in a modeling school in Kaliningrad. After completing both basic and professional training, she stepped onto a major runway for the first time at Sochi Fashion Week in 2022. The debut was emotional and memorable, but she successfully handled the pressure. One year later she returned to the same event with greater confidence and a more professional mindset.

Gradually new opportunities appeared, including participation in Russian fashion weeks, collaborations with designers, and continuous skill development. A major milestone came in 2024 when Victoria (Victoria.Freyman) walked international runways in Milan and Paris. The Paris show took place on March 8 and became especially meaningful when her father surprised her with a bouquet delivered to her hotel despite the distance between them.

Victoria considers her father a key influence in her career. He helped her approach modeling strategically by planning participation in multiple shows and building connections. This approach led to meeting designer Nadegda Shibina (@nadegdashibina), collaboration with whom resulted in her becoming a brand ambassador.

Behind the glamorous image of fashion shows there is also a challenging reality. Long waiting hours, organizational difficulties, travel stress, and unexpected situations are all part of the profession. Victoria (Victoria.Freyman) believes these experiences build resilience and professionalism.

Over the past two years she has participated in more than ten shows and visited twelve countries, including Italy, France, Spain, the UAE, Qatar, Belarus, and China. One of the most emotional projects for her was participating in a runway alongside models with disabilities, including participants with prosthetics. The experience reinforced her belief that limitations are often mental rather than physical.

Looking ahead, Victoria plans to apply to Milano Fashion Institute to study Fashion Business and Fashion Management, aiming to understand the industry from a broader perspective.

Her biggest dream is clear and ambitious. She hopes to one day become an angel for Victoria's Secret. Considering her determination and rapid progress, this goal feels increasingly realistic.

For now, Victoria (Victoria.Freyman) continues balancing education, training, and runway work, steadily building her name in the international fashion industry. Her story is only beginning, but it already shows the qualities of a model with strong character, discipline, and global ambitions.
