

America's Best In Medicine: Dr. Katie M. Campuzano Expands Women's Health Impact Through Statewide Care And Education

Board-Certified OB-GYN Brings Over Two Decades of Experience to Hospitals Across Arizona

Prescott, Arizona Apr 23, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Katie M. Campuzano, MD, a board-certified obstetrician and gynecologist with more than 20 years of experience, continues to make a meaningful impact in women's healthcare through her transition to locum tenens practice across Arizona. Known for her clinical expertise and dedication to patient education, Dr. Campuzano has built a career centered on empowering women with the knowledge and support they need to make informed decisions about their health.

Dr. Campuzano earned her medical degree from Creighton University School of Medicine in Omaha, Nebraska, in 1999. She then completed a combined residency in obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Connecticut's Hartford Hospital from 1999 to 2003. During her residency, she developed a strong foundation in comprehensive obstetric and gynecologic care, including surgical procedures, labor and delivery management, and preventive health services. These formative years helped shape her patient-centered approach and commitment to excellence in clinical care.

In 2003, Dr. Campuzano established a private practice in Prescott, Arizona, where she provided full-spectrum obstetric and gynecologic services for more than two decades. Her practice became known for its emphasis on patient education, preventive care, and personalized treatment. She supported women through every stage of reproductive health, offering services ranging from fertility counseling and prenatal care to menopause management. In addition to routine care, she performed advanced procedures such as cesarean sections, hysterectomies, laparoscopic surgeries, and obstetric ultrasound evaluations, ensuring her patients had access to comprehensive and high-quality care close to home.

Since January 2025, Dr. Campuzano has embraced a new chapter in her career by transitioning to locum tenens work, allowing her to extend her expertise to a broader patient population across Arizona. She currently serves hospitals and clinics, including Yavapai Regional Medical Center, Tucson Medical Center, and Kingman Regional Medical Center. In this role, she provides critical support in labor and delivery units, antenatal and postpartum care, and gynecologic services, helping healthcare facilities maintain continuity of care while addressing staffing needs. Her adaptability and depth of experience make her a valuable asset in diverse clinical environments.

A Fellow of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists and certified by the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology, Dr. Campuzano remains actively engaged in professional organizations, including the Arizona Medical Association. Her commitment to maintaining the highest standards of care is reflected in her ongoing involvement in the medical community and her dedication to evidence-based practice.

Central to Dr. Campuzano's philosophy is the belief that education is a powerful tool in healthcare. She is passionate about helping women understand their bodies, their reproductive health, and the options available to them. "I enjoy both treating my patients and educating them about their health," she said. "Helping women understand their bodies and make informed decisions about their care is one of the most rewarding aspects of my work." This focus on education fosters trust and collaboration, enabling patients to take an active role in their care and overall well-being.

Dr. Campuzano attributes her long-standing success to her unwavering dedication to patient advocacy, education, and compassionate care. Her work continues to reflect a deep commitment to improving access to quality healthcare for women across Arizona. In recognition of her contributions to the field, she has been selected for inclusion in America's Best in Medicine for 2025–2026, representing Prescott, Arizona.
