

America's Best In Medicine: Michelle Waggoner Advances Oncology Innovation Clinical Leadership And Community Impact

Veteran Hematology and Oncology Specialist Helps Expand Access to Life-Changing Therapies Across the Southwest

Las Vegas, Nevada Apr 23, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Michelle Waggoner, a highly accomplished oncology and hematology specialist, continues to make a meaningful impact in healthcare through a distinguished career spanning more than three decades in clinical care, diagnostic imaging, and pharmaceutical leadership. Known for combining scientific expertise with a patient-centered mindset, she has become a trusted partner to providers and a strong advocate for expanding access to innovative cancer therapies.

Currently serving as an Oncology Territory Manager at Incyte, Waggoner focuses on hematology medications and the launch of advanced immunotherapies and infusion products across a broad territory that includes Las Vegas, Henderson, Northern Arizona, and St. George. In this role, she works closely with community oncology providers to help integrate cutting-edge treatments into clinical practice efficiently, safely, and closer to where patients live.

Her professional journey began with a strong clinical foundation in radiology and mammography. After earning a Bachelor's Degree in Comprehensive Imaging from the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, Waggoner worked directly with patients in diagnostic imaging settings. These early experiences gave her firsthand insight into the emotional and physical challenges patients face during serious health concerns and helped shape the compassionate approach that has defined her career.

Transitioning into the pharmaceutical industry, Waggoner brought valuable clinical knowledge to a remarkable 27-year tenure with Eli Lilly and Company. During that time, she successfully launched numerous products across primary care, hospital, and specialty markets, including therapies for depression, diabetes, and hematology-oncology conditions. Her ability to navigate complex healthcare environments and deliver strategic growth led to consistent recognition for excellence.

Among her honors are Platinum Performer distinctions, Circle of Excellence awards, and repeated recognition as a Top Sales Producer—accolades that reflect both her results-driven leadership and dedication to improving patient care through innovative therapies.

In her current position, Waggoner collaborates with multidisciplinary healthcare teams to support physician education, streamline patient access, and connect providers with clinical trial opportunities. She is especially passionate about helping identify patients who may benefit from targeted, non-chemotherapy treatment options that can be delivered within local community settings rather than requiring extensive travel.

“I truly enjoy the opportunity to make a meaningful difference in life-enhancing and life-changing therapies for patients,” said Waggoner. “Being able to guide them through their health journey, provide personalized customer care, and see the positive impact of treatment is incredibly rewarding.”

Beyond her professional accomplishments, Waggoner is equally committed to community engagement and service. She serves as an Ambassador for the Henderson Chamber of Commerce and volunteers with organizations including the Wellness Box Foundation and Dress for Success. Her volunteer efforts reflect a deep commitment to empowerment, wellness, and creating opportunities for others.

Alongside her husband, she is also the co-owner of a Lash Lounge franchise, where she oversees marketing initiatives and helps foster connections among local entrepreneurs. Through this work, she promotes self-care, confidence, and economic growth within the community.

Michelle Waggoner's career is a powerful example of what happens when clinical expertise, strategic leadership, and service-driven values come together. Whether advancing access to life-changing therapies, mentoring peers, or investing in her community, she continues to improve lives and inspire excellence across every sphere she touches.
