Veteran Nurse Practitioner Combines Clinical Expertise, Compassion, and Military Service to Impact Patient Lives in Seattle

Seattle, Washington Apr 1, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Holly J. Williamson, ARNP, CWS, CWCN, DWC, is a seasoned nurse practitioner with more than 40 years in nursing and 50 years in healthcare. Her career reflects a deep commitment to hands-on patient care, shaped by a strong work ethic developed while growing up on a dairy farm in Vermont. Holly's clinical expertise centers on wound care, ostomy management, and diabetic foot care, with additional experience in family practice and orthopedics. For the past 15 years, she has served veterans at the VA in Seattle, where she is recognized for her compassionate, patient-centered approach.

"I enjoy connecting with my patients on a personal level, especially listening to the stories my veteran patients share. Those conversations create a deeper sense of trust and understanding, reminding me that caring for someone goes far beyond treating a condition—it's about honoring their experiences, service, and life journey," says Holly.

Her professional journey includes service in the United States Air Force from 1986 to 1997, where she pursued her nursing education and built a lifelong connection to military and veteran communities. Holly earned her Bachelor's Degree from the University of Washington in 1997 and completed her Master's Degree at Seattle Pacific University in 2003. She is a Fellow of the American Wound Care Society and a Diplomate of the Advanced Wound Care Society and holds advanced certifications in wound care and diabetic foot management, reflecting her dedication to clinical excellence.

What Holly values most about her work is the meaningful connections she builds with her patients. She believes nursing is not just about treatment, but about listening, understanding, and meeting people where they are. As she prepares for retirement, Holly looks forward to spending more time with her grandson, traveling, and continuing to enjoy life outside of medicine. Her legacy is one of service, resilience, and lasting impact on the patients and communities she has cared for throughout her remarkable career.
