

America's Best Medicine: Amanda Goodhart, RN, Ostomy And Continence Nurse Specialist At Lehigh Valley Health Network

Enhancing Patient Outcomes Through Clinical Expertise, Education, and Compassionate Care

Allentown, Pennsylvania Apr 8, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Allentown, Pennsylvania — Amanda Goodhart, BSN, RN, CWOCN, is a highly respected nursing professional whose career reflects a steadfast commitment to clinical excellence, patient advocacy, and leadership in specialized care. With a focus on wound, ostomy, and continence nursing, Amanda combines advanced clinical expertise with a compassionate, patient-centered approach, making a meaningful impact on both the individuals she serves and the teams she supports.

Amanda earned her Bachelor of Science in Nursing from Chamberlain College of Nursing and holds a diploma from The Reading Hospital School of Health Sciences. She is also an active member of the Wound, Ostomy, and Continence Nurses (WOCN) Society, demonstrating her ongoing commitment to professional growth and excellence in her specialty.

Beginning her healthcare career with foundational roles at HCR Manor Care and Tower Health, Amanda developed strong clinical skills in patient care, medication administration, and education. As her career progressed, she stepped into leadership roles as a Registered Nurse Supervisor and Unit Manager, where she guided teams of nurses and certified nursing assistants while maintaining high standards of care and operational efficiency. These experiences laid the groundwork for her specialization in wound care and her passion for patient education.

Currently serving as a WOC Nurse Specialist at Lehigh Valley Health Network, Amanda provides advanced wound and ostomy care while educating both patients and healthcare professionals. Her previous roles at Tower Health further highlight her leadership and dedication, including facilitating educational programs, co-chairing unit-based councils, and serving as a wound resource nurse. She is highly skilled in IV insertion, telemetry, and critical care, and serves as both a validator and preceptor, mentoring colleagues across multiple clinical competencies.

As a Certified Wound, Ostomy, and Continence Nurse (CWOCN) with BLS certification, Amanda is recognized for her ability to deliver high-quality, evidence-based care while fostering a supportive and collaborative environment. Her approach blends technical precision with empathy, ensuring that patients receive not only expert treatment but also compassionate support throughout their care journey.

“What I enjoy most about practicing nursing is the opportunity to provide compassionate care and make a meaningful difference in my patients’ lives,” Amanda shares. “I attribute my success to my genuine passion for nursing and my commitment to approaching each patient with empathy and understanding.”

Looking ahead, Amanda remains focused on advancing her expertise, expanding educational initiatives, and advocating for patient-centered care. Her dedication to excellence and leadership continues to position her as a trusted and influential figure in the field of wound, ostomy, and continence nursing.
