About the Series

Summitfall is a survival drama set in the Himalaya and follows a multinational climbing team on a high-altitude expedition. The story focuses on the challenges faced by the group as environmental conditions and internal team dynamics begin to affect decision-making during the ascent.

The series is structured into three episodes:

- Ice Line
- Whiteout
- Ridge

Each episode focuses on different stages of the expedition, highlighting leadership decisions, survival conditions, and operational challenges in extreme environments.

Production Approach

The project is being developed with an emphasis on realistic production methods. The approach includes the use of controlled natural environments, practical stunt coordination, and technical consultation related to high-altitude safety and expedition conditions.

According to the production team, the series is designed as a short-format cinematic project, with each episode running approximately 12 to 18 minutes.
