

Katherine M. “Kate” Barry Biles, CHCP, Recognized By America’s Best In Medicine, Advancing Medical Education Excellence

Branchburg-Based Consultant and Industry Leader Elevates Continuing Medical Education to Improve Patient Care and Professional Competence

Branchburg, New Jersey Apr 14, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Katherine M. “Kate” Barry Biles, CHCP, is a distinguished medical education professional with over 20 years of experience in the pharmaceutical and biotech industries. Specializing in oncology, hematology, rare disease, immunology, virology, and women's health, Kate has dedicated her career to advancing healthcare professional knowledge, competence, and confidence. Recognized for her results-driven approach, she combines strategic insight with adult learning principles to maximize the impact of educational initiatives across the healthcare landscape.

As the Founder and Principal Consultant of KMGB Insights Consulting Services, LLC, Kate advises medical education providers and pharmaceutical supporters on grant strategy, proposal development, outcomes assessment, and compliant collaboration. Through her consulting work, she ensures that educational programs and sponsorships are closely aligned with therapeutic area strategies, implements rigorous outcomes assessment measures, and delivers actionable insights to cross-functional teams. Kate continues to pursue senior industry leadership roles while expanding her consulting practice, leveraging her expertise to elevate the quality and effectiveness of continuing medical education.

Throughout her career, Kate has held Associate Director-level roles at leading pharmaceutical organizations, including Novartis, Regeneron, Takeda, and Bristol Myers Squibb. She has extensive experience managing independent medical education grants, fellowships, third-party research awards, and medical sponsorships, often overseeing multi-million-dollar budgets. Her work emphasizes evidence-based education designed to translate into improved patient care through practical, clinically relevant learning.

"I find the greatest reward in helping healthcare providers and their patients, particularly those navigating cancer and other serious conditions," Kate shares. "Being able to provide education that moves the needle on patient care is incredibly meaningful to me and keeps me passionate about my work every day."

Kate's early career includes contributions to scientific publications at Cold Spring Harbor Laboratory, supporting early protease inhibitor research, and work in medical and college textbook publishing at W.W. Norton & Company in New York City. She earned a Bachelor of Arts in English from the College of the Holy Cross and holds the Certified Healthcare CPD Professional (CHCP) credential, a leading certification for professionals in continuing education in healthcare. She is actively engaged in the Alliance for Continuing Education in the Health Professions (ACEHP), serving as Co-Chair of its Benchmarking Committee and on the editorial board of its publication, the Alliance Almanac.

Kate's achievements have been recognized through industry honors, including the Bristol Myers Squibb Bravo and Encore Awards, and she has been selected for America's Best in Medicine (2026–27), representing New Jersey. Known for her resilience, collaborative leadership, and passion for advancing medical education, Katherine M. "Kate" Barry Biles continues to inspire healthcare professionals and shape educational programs that improve patient outcomes, foster innovation, and strengthen the future of healthcare.
