Kissimmee, Florida Apr 21, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - Anna Edwards of Mouse Wife Adventures Earns National Cruise Certification While Expanding Impact Through Travel. Anna Edwards, founder of Mouse Wife Adventures, has earned the Certified Cruise Counsellor (CCC) designation from Cruise Lines International Association, the leading authority in the global cruise industry.

This certification recognizes a high level of expertise in cruise travel, achieved through extensive training, industry experience, and proven sales performance. CLIA-certified advisors are recognized as trusted experts who help travelers navigate the wide range of cruise options to find the best fit for their needs, lifestyle, and budget.

For Anna, this milestone is more than a professional achievement. As a travel advisor, mother, and advocate, she focuses on creating meaningful travel experiences, including group cruises and purpose-driven travel. She is currently organizing her second Breast Cancer: Healing at Sea, Charity Cruise, aimed at supporting mothers navigating cancer through community, connection, and resources.

“Travel is about more than just going somewhere,” said Anna. “It’s about creating moments that matter, bringing people together, and sometimes even helping them heal.”

Mouse Wife Adventures is one of more than 8,000 North American travel agencies affiliated with CLIA. Industry data shows that the majority of cruise travelers continue to book through travel advisors, valuing their expertise and personalized service.

Continuing her commitment to growth and education, Anna will attend CLIA Cruise360 next week, where she will complete additional training toward her next certification, Accredited Cruise Counsellor (ACC).
