

Lumo Wallet Introduces Zero-Fee Crypto Payments and Non-Custodial Business Tools

Wyoming, United States Apr 24, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Lumo Wallet, a next-generation non-custodial crypto platform, has announced the upcoming launch of its ecosystem designed to simplify digital asset payments for individuals and businesses.

Unlike traditional custodial wallets, Lumo ensures users maintain full control over their private keys, with all sensitive data generated and stored locally on their device. This approach enhances both security and financial independence.

One of Lumo's standout features is its business payment solution, enabling merchants to accept cryptocurrency payments with 0% transaction fees and instant settlement. This positions Lumo as a competitive alternative to traditional payment processors that charge high fees and delay payouts.

The platform also introduces a Lumo POS terminal, allowing physical stores to accept crypto payments seamlessly. Businesses can generate payment requests directly from their dashboard and process them instantly through the POS system.

In addition, Lumo integrates a crypto-enabled debit card experience via a regulated third-party issuer. Users can top up using USDT and spend globally through Apple Pay, Google Pay, and online merchants.

"Lumo is designed to bridge the gap between crypto and real-world usability," said Thomas Rowlands, CEO of Lumo Wallet LLC. "We're focused on giving users full control while making crypto payments simple and accessible.”

With early access launching soon, Lumo Wallet aims to bring practical crypto adoption to everyday users and businesses worldwide.
