

and lifestyle sectors worldwide.

Movanze™ was specifically recognised for its advanced formulation built around the patented Rhuleave-K® complex—a synergistic blend of turmeric, Boswellia serrata, and black sesame oil - combined with collagen type II, vitamin D, manganese, and additional Boswellia extract. Developed and manufactured in Norway under strict quality standards, Movanze™ is designed to support joint health, mobility, and everyday comfort.

“We are honoured to receive this recognition from LUXlife,” said the management behind Movanze™. “This award validates our commitment to developing high-quality, science-based products that meet the real needs of people who want to stay active and maintain mobility throughout life.”

Awards Coordinator Kaven Cooper commented:

“I take great pride in recognising key players in the health, beauty and wellness sectors, and I sincerely wish each of our winners continued success. Congratulations again - your work is timeless.”

Multiple Industry Recognitions Strengthen Market Position

This latest accolade adds to a growing list of awards for Movanze™ in 2026. The product was also named “Best Joint Support Supplement of the Year, Norway 2026” by Global Brands Magazine as part of its international awards programme. That recognition followed an independent evaluation highlighting Movanze™’s innovation, product quality, branding, and strong performance in the European market.

Together, these awards reinforce Movanze™’s position as a modern, well-formulated supplement within the joint health category - combining scientific relevance, carefully selected ingredients, and high manufacturing standards.

A Science-Aligned Approach to Joint Health

Movanze™ is developed for adults seeking daily support for joints, muscles, and mobility. The formulation includes seven carefully selected ingredients designed to address both structural and functional aspects of musculoskeletal health.

The patented Rhuleave-K® complex forms the core of the product, combining botanical ingredients studied in relation to the musculoskeletal system. In line with EFSA On-Hold guidance, Boswellia serrata may have beneficial effects on joints, bones, and muscles. Complementary nutrients such as vitamin D and manganese contribute to normal muscle function, bone maintenance, connective tissue formation, and protection against oxidative stress.

Manufactured in Norway, Movanze™ is produced under strict quality controls with a focus on traceability, consistency, and compliance with applicable regulations. The product is delivered in an oil-based softgel format and is free from gluten and lactose, with a simple daily dosage of two capsules.
