

Muvr Expands to 114 Cities Across California, Texas, Illinois and Ohio with On-Demand Moving and Delivery App

LA-based startup now covers major metro areas with instant-book moving, delivery, and junk removal services

Los Angeles, California Apr 9, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Muvr Technologies, Inc., the on-demand moving, delivery, and junk removal platform, today announced its expansion to 114 cities across California, Texas, Illinois, and Ohio. The company now provides instant-book services in major metropolitan areas including Los Angeles, Chicago, Houston, Columbus, and dozens of surrounding communities.

Muvr connects customers with professional movers and drivers through its iOS and Android app, enabling same-day or scheduled bookings for local moves, furniture delivery, and full-service junk removal. The platform supports both consumer and business customers, offering transparent pricing with no hidden fees.

"Our expansion to 114 cities marks a major milestone in our mission to make moving and delivery effortless," said Rico Suarez, CEO of Muvr. "We are building the infrastructure that lets anyone book a trusted moving or delivery professional in minutes, not days."

Key expansion highlights include California with 54 cities including Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego, and San Jose; Texas with 20 cities including Houston, Dallas, Austin, and San Antonio; Illinois with 20 cities including Chicago, Aurora, and Naperville; and Ohio with 20 cities including Columbus, Cleveland, and Cincinnati.

Muvr's services include local moving, long-distance moving coordination, furniture delivery, appliance haul-away, and junk removal. Pricing starts at $499 for studio moves and $99 for single-item junk removal.

The Muvr app is available on iOS and Android. Customers can also book directly at <https://book.muvr.io/>. Florida, New York, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey are next in the expansion pipeline, with 200 cities targeted by end of 2026.
