

S&R Sport x Delfina USA Welcomes Nicolas Saveljic to the Team

Elite water polo talent brings international experience and competitive edge to S&R Sport x Delfina USA partnership.

Torrance, California Apr 21, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - S&R Sport is proud to announce that Nicolas Saveljic has officially joined the S&R Sport x Delfina USA team. A standout athlete with roots in Kotor and a rising presence in USA Water Polo, Saveljic represents the next generation of high-performance water polo players competing at the sport's highest levels.

This partnership is built around one shared goal: growing the game of water polo at every level.

Through Global Water Polo, Saveljic is leading the charge by expanding the sport beyond borders and creating meaningful opportunities for athletes worldwide. His work includes hosting elite clinics and international camps, building global training pathways, and connecting U.S. players with high-level international competition and experiences.

With support from Delfina USA x S&R Sport, this collaboration is designed to amplify that impact through custom team suits, caps, and gear, event branding and co-branded merchandise, digital marketing and athlete-driven content, flash stores for camps and international trips, and the future development of co-branded training products. This isn't just a sponsorship, it's a long-term partnership focused on elevating the sport worldwide.

This partnership reinforces S&R Sport's commitment to aligning with athletes who embody excellence, discipline, and a passion for aquatic competition. Known for meeting and exceeding customer expectations through honest, timely, and professional service, S&R Sport continues to expand its influence within the water polo and swim communities by collaborating with athletes who reflect its core values.

Saveljic's journey from Kotor, a region known for producing world-class water polo talent, to competing on the international stage makes him a natural fit for the S&R Sport x Delfina USA brand. His experience, versatility in the pool, and dedication to the sport align seamlessly with the company's focus on quality aquatic products and performance-driven gear.

"S&R Sport is built on relationships, trust, and a deep understanding of what athletes need to perform at their best," said a representative from S&R Sport. "Nicolas brings not only elite-level skill but also a global perspective on the sport. We're excited to support his journey and showcase how our products perform at the highest levels of competition."

Through this partnership, Saveljic will represent S&R Sport x Delfina USA while utilizing the brand's premium aquatic gear, including sublimated swimwear and customized team products. S&R Sport is known for providing fully customized gear solutions for water polo and swim teams, with bulk ordering options, consistent pricing, and artwork services at no additional cost.

The collaboration also highlights S&R Sport's dedication to both team-based and individual athletes. While the company serves high school, collegiate, and club teams with bulk custom orders, it also supports individual players seeking high-quality, performance-ready gear. Saveljic's involvement bridges both audiences, inspiring younger athletes while reinforcing trust among coaches, athletic directors, and team decision-makers.

In addition to product quality, S&R Sport continues to differentiate itself through exceptional customer service and reliable delivery timelines. The company's "underpromise and overdeliver" philosophy ensures that teams and athletes receive exactly what they need, when they need it, without compromise.

As S&R Sport x Delfina USA continues to grow its roster of elite athletes, partnerships like this further establish the brand as a trusted name in aquatic sports. By combining industry expertise with athlete-driven insights, S&R Sport remains at the forefront of innovation and service in the competitive water polo and swim markets.
