

The International MLS (IMLS)® Announces Keller Williams Curacao Has Joined The IMLS Global Luxury Companies of the World

Delray Beach, Florida Apr 17, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - The International MLS (IMLS)® announced today that Keller Williams Curacao has joined its Global Luxury Companies of the World network.

Keller Williams Curacao (KW Curacao) is a real estate company that operates throughout Curacao with its dedicated, professionally trained agents.

According to Dr. Daniel Nussbaum, CEO and Founder of The IMLS, "We are delighted to announce that Keller Williams Curacao has joined our Global Luxury Companies of the World network to leverage everything The IMLS has developed over the years to help agents and brokers grow their business.

Keller Williams Curacao now has the exclusive rights to license and market The IMLS trademarks and brand approved by the US Patent and Trademark Office throughout Curacao, providing them with a competitive advantage to recruit more agents, get more listings, as well as more buyers. This also provides them with numerous advantages and opportunities that The IMLS platform offers, including automatic syndication to Realtor.com/International, Realestate.com.au, and Housing.com. We are thrilled that they recognize how this opportunity can give them that advantage to grow their company presence throughout Curacao."

The IMLS Global Luxury Companies of the World network opportunity is the outcome of years of development by The IMLS and provides companies with the benefit of securing more luxury listing appointments, attracting more listings, buyers, and agents. This includes access to logos, badges, and sign riders, along with additional strategic benefits on www.TheIMLS.com from partnering with The IMLS.

As a member of The IMLS Global Luxury Companies of the World, Keller Williams Curacao will have its listings displayed on The IMLS and enhanced with up to 50 photos per listing, along with its logos and a description of their company. All listings will also be included on The IMLS International Search pages, which are accessible to all IMLS members worldwide. This platform features residential and commercial listings from over 100 countries in more than 100 languages, enabling agents to capture client leads outside their own local market to refer to other agents worldwide.

Companies that join The IMLS Global Luxury Companies of the World network also get memberships for all their agents if a roster feed is provided, serving as an excellent recruitment and retention tool. This means their agents can have their own directory listings in every city they serve, along with access to their own unbranded IMLS International new homes development search.

As an IMLS Global Luxury Company, Keller Williams Curacao can add their new home developments to The IMLS New Homes Developer/Agent platform to generate exclusive buyer leads in Curacao. Furthermore, any of The IMLS's 500,000+ members can also generate leads from their own free New Home Developments search. Their membership includes priority agent/broker directory listings in all regions they service.

Global Luxury Companies of the World is just one of the three Broker options offered by The IMLS. The first option is the Listing membership which provides Brokers with having their listings on The IMLS as well as providing them with Broker Directory listings in every city they service, and an international new homes development search in an unbranded format. They also gain access to other IMLS products and opportunities available in their individual member area.

The second option is the Premier Broker membership which provides IMLS memberships for all of their agents. Here their agents get all the benefits of being a member with an Agent Directory listing for every city they service, an International New Homes search, as well being able to get discounts on IMLS Special Product Options.

The IMLS global technology platforms address growing concerns about the real estate industry by upholding core ethical promises. The IMLS never advertises other agents on a personal member's listing page, ensuring that if a consumer expresses interest in a property, only that listing agent will receive the lead.

"After integrating our residential, syndication, developers, and commercial platforms as originally envisioned for the industry, we are excited to have recently launched this new global luxury referral network, with Keller Williams Curacao seeing the benefits and joining us quickly.

Our goal has always been to unite the real estate world by serving the best interests of all parties involved. We believe that exceptional companies and agent teams will recognize the strategic competitive advantages of joining our Global Luxury Companies of the World network," stated Dr. Nussbaum.

Keller Williams Curacao Owner, Ricarda Ceresa, stated, "We're proud to now represent Curaçao and its homes within a global network of luxury real estate companies — opening doors far beyond our island."
