

Veritas Global Protection Services Grows National Footprint as Consumer Demand for Vehicle Service Contracts Accelerates

Phoenix, Arizona Apr 29, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Veritas Global Protection Services is expanding its national presence as consumer demand for reliable vehicle service contracts continues to rise across the country. The Phoenix, AZ-based provider, which administers vehicle protection plans through a network of authorized dealers, is scaling its operations to meet growing awareness of the coverage gap that opens when factory warranties expire.

The timing reflects a broader shift in the automotive consumer market. As vehicles on the road age and out-of-pocket repair costs climb, more drivers are actively seeking a vehicle service contract before a breakdown forces the decision. Veritas Global Protection Services is positioned to serve that demand with coverage options spanning a range of vehicle ages, mileage levels, and mechanical systems.

The conversation around vehicle protection has changed, said a Veritas Global Protection Services spokesperson. Consumers are more informed than ever about what happens when a manufacturer warranty ends, and they are looking for a vehicle protection plan that delivers real coverage, not fine print. Veritas is growing because it has built a product that delivers on that promise.

Central to the growth of Veritas Global Protection is its commitment to straightforward contract terms and a claims process that authorizes repairs at licensed facilities without unnecessary friction. Understanding the distinction between a vehicle service contract vs warranty is something Veritas actively communicates to consumers and dealers alike.

A vehicle service contract is not a manufacturer obligation but an independently purchased agreement that activates when factory coverage ends. Clarity on that point, Veritas believes, is what separates a vehicle protection plan consumers trust from one they regret.

Veritas Global Protection Services holds an A+ rating from the Better Business Bureau, reflecting its track record of responsive customer service and resolved claims. As the authorized dealer network expands, that standard travels with it. Enrollment is available now through authorized Veritas dealer locations nationwide.
