

America's Best in Medicine Profiles Dustin Little, DO: Double Board-Certified Physician in Family and Addiction Medicine

Oklahoma Physician at Warren Clinic Provides Comprehensive Patient Care While Advancing Preventative Medicine, Addiction Treatment, and Healthcare Leadership

Bethany, Oklahoma May 29, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Dustin Little, DO, is a double board-certified physician in family medicine and addiction medicine whose broad clinical expertise and patient-centered philosophy continue to make a meaningful impact on the health and well-being of individuals throughout Oklahoma. With nearly nine years of clinical experience, Dr. Little currently practices at Warren Clinic in Vinita, Oklahoma, a multi-specialty physician group affiliated with Saint Francis Health System, where he provides comprehensive medical care for patients with complex and often medically unstable conditions.

Dr. Little's clinical expertise spans the full scope of family medicine, allowing him to diagnose and manage acute illnesses, chronic disease states, and preventative healthcare needs for patients across all age groups. His broad medical knowledge enables him to coordinate care for individuals with multiple comorbidities while addressing a wide range of healthcare concerns that include cardiology, pulmonology, gastroenterology, and behavioral health.

Dr. Little earned his Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine Degree from Oklahoma State University College of Osteopathic Medicine in 2014 after completing a Bachelor's Degree in Chemistry. He later completed his residency training in Tahlequah, Oklahoma, where he gained extensive experience in internal medicine and the management of medically complex patients. Although he initially aspired to become a pediatric oncologist, Dr. Little discovered a passion for family medicine during his training and was drawn to the specialty's versatility and depth.

He describes family medicine as "central medicine" because of its expansive scope and ability to address nearly every aspect of patient health. For Dr. Little, the specialty offers an opportunity to build long-term relationships with patients while helping them navigate both immediate health concerns and preventative care goals.

"What I enjoy most about practicing medicine is helping people and providing education," says Dr. Little. "I also love that every patient is unique, which keeps each day interesting and rewarding. Practicing family medicine allows me to care for patients across a broad range of medical areas, from pediatrics to geriatrics, giving me the opportunity to make a meaningful impact on many aspects of their health."

In addition to his work in family medicine, Dr. Little has dedicated approximately eight years to addiction medicine, developing specialized expertise in treating substance use disorders and related health complications. He is currently preparing to expand his involvement in addiction medicine through future consulting opportunities focused on evidence-based treatment strategies and improved patient outcomes.

Committed to lifelong learning and professional growth, Dr. Little is currently pursuing a Master's Degree in Healthcare Administration from Southeastern Oklahoma State University, which he expects to complete next summer. He is also a member of the American Osteopathic Association and has contributed to medical literature through published research.

Dr. Little's professional philosophy centers on continuous performance improvement, identifying root causes of healthcare challenges, and optimizing systems to enhance patient outcomes. Through his commitment to value-based care, preventative medicine, and healthcare leadership, he continues to position himself as a physician dedicated not only to treating illness, but also to improving the overall quality and accessibility of patient care.
