

Andrew Tate Says Los Angeles Is “Where I Belong” as He Hints at Hollywood Move

Los Angeles, California May 8, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - Andrew Tate, influencer and former kickboxing world champion who rose to international fame through online content in 2022, has hinted at the prospect of moving permanently to the USA.

Filmed while driving through the city, the video, which is currently doing the rounds on social media, shows Tate reflecting on the atmosphere, energy, and lifestyle of LA, describing it as a place that fits naturally with his personality and ambitions.

“This is where I belong, I love it here. I might move to LA,” Tate says during the clip.

Known for his confidence and direct attitude, Tate speaks openly about enjoying the pace and culture of the city, while joking about the scale and extravagance that Los Angeles is known for.

At one point in the video, he describes Hollywood as an environment that suits him naturally, saying: “This is where I belong, I’m a star.”

During his time in Los Angeles, videos and photographs of Tate interacting with supporters in Beverly Hills and other parts of the city have circulated widely across social media. Tate also believes that Los Angeles also represents a natural fit for his growing involvement in entertainment, podcasting and online media.

Sources close to Tate say he has enjoyed the pace and atmosphere of the city during his recent stay and has spent time meeting creators, entrepreneurs and business contacts while exploring opportunities in the US property market.

Tate also comments on the recognition he receives while moving around the city, claiming that fans regularly approach him in public and that the response has been overwhelmingly positive during his time in Los Angeles.

Andrew Tate said,

"The energy here is different, people come up to me everywhere. It's one of the few places in the world where ambition and success are celebrated openly."

The video has quickly circulated across social media, generating strong engagement from supporters, many of whom welcomed the possibility of Tate spending more time on the West Coast.

A spokesperson for Tate said:

"Andrew enjoys travelling and experiencing different cities, but Los Angeles is somewhere he has always found exciting because of its scale, ambition and culture. He feels very comfortable there and has been received positively throughout his visit."

The comments come during a period of continued international travel for Tate, who has recently visited cities including Miami, New York and Hong Kong

Despite ongoing controversy surrounding him, Tate remains one of the most widely discussed personalities on the internet, continuing to attract major online attention through his content.

Media Contact

Roger Hawke

@gmail.com

Source : CobraTate

See on IssueWire