New Jersey-based company helps dental offices, DSOs, and multi-specialty groups recover more revenue without adding billing staff

CEC Brings Specialized Dental Billing and RCM Outsourcing Services to Practices Across the United States

Bergen County, New Jersey May 20, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - CEC is a dental billing and revenue cycle management company, a company based in East Rutherford, New Jersey, and provides end-to-end billing services and RCM outsourcing to dental practices and healthcare organizations in the United States. It could be an individual dental practice or a massive DSO that has dozens of offices, but CEC can handle the whole billing cycle—so the providers can be dedicated to patient care rather than chasing down claims and resolving payer disputes.

The company deals directly with dental groups, hospitals, behavioral health providers, and optometry practices. It provides its services in insurance eligibility checks and claims, claims that are denied, posting payment, accounts receivable follow-up, and credentialing. CEC also integrates with other popular dental practice management systems, like Dentrix, Eaglesoft, and OpenDental.

“Dental billing has become more complicated over the last several years. Payer rules change, denial rates go up, and front desk staff ends up spending hours on the phone with insurance companies instead of helping patients. We built CEC to take that off the practice’s plate completely—and make sure they’re actually getting paid what they’ve earned.”

How CEC Works

CEC’s approach combines a US-based billing team with proprietary RCM software that automates claims, tracks payments, and flags issues before they turn into denials. The company reports that practices working with CEC typically see A/R aging drop by up to 50% within six months and collections improve by up to 30% — without any additional investment in in-house billing staff.

For dental service organizations managing multiple locations, CEC offers centralized billing oversight that keeps revenue performance consistent across every site. Credentialing support is also available for new providers joining a group or expanding into new insurance networks.

CEC’s work extends beyond dental. The company’s medical billing division supports hospital networks, behavioral health providers, and optometry groups with the same end-to-end RCM structure—built around compliance, accuracy, and faster reimbursements.

“We don’t believe in one-size-fits-all billing. A pediatric dental group has different needs than a behavioral health clinic or a hospital MSO. Our team is trained across all of these specialties, and that matters when it comes to getting claims right the first time.”
