

Fashion Sourcing — Simplifying Global Sourcing with Transparency in Manufacturing

Why Transparency Matters in Apparel Manufacturing

Miami, Florida May 8, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - In today's fast-paced fashion industry, brands need more than just factories—they need trusted partners who can deliver quality, consistency, and transparency across the entire production process. Fashion Sourcing simplifies global sourcing for all your fashion apparel needs by connecting brands directly with reliable manufacturers across Asia and beyond.

Founded by Laurent Gabay, Fashion Sourcing was built to modernize how fashion companies manage production, from initial concept to final delivery. The platform combines decades of industry experience with a vast network of vetted factories, offering brands access to high-quality manufacturing while ensuring full visibility and control throughout the supply chain.

Why Transparency Matters in Apparel Manufacturing

Transparency is at the heart of Fashion Sourcing. Brands gain clear insight into every step of the production process, including:

- Factory capabilities and expertise
- Material sourcing and fabric quality
- Production timelines and workflow management
- Quality control inspections
- Packaging and global shipping logistics

This visibility ensures that brands can make informed decisions, maintain consistent quality, and reduce risk in global apparel sourcing.

The Power of Partnership

According to Gabay, successful global sourcing is built on long-term partnerships and open communication.

“In fashion sourcing, transparency and trust are as important as production capabilities. By connecting brands with the right factories and providing oversight at every stage, Fashion Sourcing ensures that apparel is made efficiently, consistently, and ethically.”
