Shucheng, Anhui May 27, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Friendly Bamboo, a globally trusted supplier of certified eco-friendly Bamboo Tableware with over 12 years of manufacturing expertise, today announced the launch of its new bamboo tableware mold designs — introducing a wider range of shapes, sizes, and functional forms to meet the evolving needs of B2B clients across the hospitality, food service, retail, and events industries.

The newly designed molds expand Friendly Bamboo's bamboo tableware portfolio, enabling the production of precision-crafted plates, bowls, trays, and serving pieces that combine natural aesthetics with structural durability. Each design has been developed in response to growing global demand for sustainable tableware that performs at the level of conventional single-use products — without the environmental cost.

"Our clients have been asking for more variety without compromising on eco-compliance or quality. These new mold designs allow us to offer custom shapes that align with a brand's visual identity while remaining 100% sustainable and certified," said a spokesperson at FriendlyBamboo.

The new mold collection supports FriendlyBamboo's custom branding and private-label programme, allowing businesses to engrave logos, apply custom finishes, or develop entirely exclusive tableware shapes for their brand. Whether for a boutique hotel seeking a signature dining aesthetic or a large-scale catering operation requiring standardised bulk supply, the expanded mold range accommodates diverse requirements.

All products manufactured using the new mold designs are crafted from FSC-certified bamboo, are fully food-safe, and comply with FDA and international eco-standards. They are engineered to reduce plastic dependency by up to 90%, supporting businesses in meeting ESG targets and growing consumer expectations around sustainable packaging and tableware.

With a supply chain built for large-volume B2B orders and delivery across 50+ countries, FriendlyBamboo ensures that new designs reach global clients with the same reliability and consistency that over 500 business partners have depended on for years.

"The team understands bulk requirements very well. Packaging, customisation, and order handling are smooth. Our clients love the natural look and durability of the bamboo products," said Emily Stevens, Brand Manager, an existing FriendlyBamboo client.

B2B buyers can explore the full new bamboo tableware mold range by downloading the Bamboo Catalogue from the FriendlyBamboo website or by submitting a bulk quote request to discuss custom mold options, minimum order quantities, and branding specifications.
