

ReputationRiser Helps Businesses Add 5-Star Google Reviews to Their Websites Without Manual Updates

ReputationRiser helps businesses display verified 5-star Google reviews on their websites with an automatically updating Google review widget and built-in CTA buttons.

The image shows a website for 'Apple Ford Dealership' with a contact number '361-456-6276'. The main banner features the text 'BUY YOUR DREAM CAR' and 'High Performance Luxury Options' with a 'FIND IT NOW' button. Below the banner is a small preview of a Google review from 'Staie R.' with 5 stars. A large red arrow points from this preview to a larger, detailed view of the review widget. The widget displays the reviewer's profile picture, name 'Staie R.', 5 stars, and a 'VERIFIED' badge. The review text reads: 'Just recently bought a car from this dealership for my girlfriend and it was great! Jason and his team... More'. A second red arrow points from the widget to a 'Click To Call' button on the website. The button is yellow and located below a 'CONTACT US TODAY FOR YOUR 5 STAR EXPERIENCE' heading. The website background also shows sections for 'PICKUPS' and 'SEDANS'.

Arlington, Virginia May 13, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - ReputationRiser has announced a website widget designed to help businesses add Google reviews to a website without manually updating testimonial sections or asking a web designer to copy and paste new reviews.

ReputationRiser automatically pulls eligible verified 5-star Google reviews and live streams them directly onto a business's website through a mobile-friendly widget. This helps website visitors see real customer trust signals without leaving the page before calling the business, submitting a form, or booking an appointment.

For many businesses, Google reviews are one of the strongest forms of social proof, but those reviews often remain separated from the website experience. A potential customer may search for a company, view its website, and make a decision before seeing the business's strongest reviews at the point of conversion.

ReputationRiser helps solve that problem by giving businesses a simple way to display their strongest 5-star Google reviews directly on their websites. Instead of relying only on static testimonials, screenshots, or manual review updates, businesses can use an automatically updating Google review widget that keeps selected 5-star reviews visible to website visitors.

Businesses comparing review display tools can also review ReputationRiser's guide to choosing the best Google review widget and its comparison of the best Google review widgets for websites.

Every review displayed through ReputationRiser includes a built-in call-to-action button, such as click-to-call or click-to-book. This allows businesses to place customer trust and conversion action together, so visitors can read positive customer feedback and immediately take the next step.

When a business earns a new qualifying 5-star Google review, it can be automatically added to the ReputationRiser widget. This helps reviews stay fresh and current without ongoing website edits, static testimonial sections, or manual updates.

"Many businesses work hard to earn 5-star Google reviews, but those reviews are often not visible when website visitors are deciding whether to call, book, or submit a lead form," said Tim Sumer, Founder of ReputationRiser. "ReputationRiser helps bring those reviews into the website experience and connects them with clear next-step buttons."

The platform is designed for local businesses, service providers, agencies, home service companies, healthcare providers, med spas, dentists, chiropractors, auto repair shops, roofers, plumbers, HVAC companies, and other businesses where trust and credibility can influence customer decisions.

ReputationRiser is especially useful for businesses researching how to display Google reviews on a website, how to add Google reviews to a website, or how to use a review widget that updates automatically as new 5-star reviews are earned.

Setup is done-for-you. Businesses can add ReputationRiser to most website platforms by placing one code snippet on the site. Once installed, the widget can continue displaying 5-star Google reviews automatically, helping businesses keep their best reviews visible without ongoing technical work.
