

Adam Voulstaker Targeted by Coordinated Online Harassment and Impersonation Campaign

Auckland, New Zealand Jun 30, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Adam Voulstaker, owner of TradingStocks.ai, has become the target of a sustained and coordinated campaign involving harassment, impersonation, defamation, and doxxing across numerous online platforms.

This malicious campaign includes the creation of multiple fake accounts and profiles using his name and identity, unauthorized use of his likeness, publication of false and damaging content, fake negative reviews, impersonation videos, and repeated attempts to damage both his personal reputation and his legitimate business interests.

The attacks appear designed to mislead the public, deter potential customers, and create unnecessary confusion around his professional activities in cybersecurity, technology, and trading software development.

Full details of the campaign, including comprehensive evidence, screenshots, timelines, and ongoing updates, are available on the official documentation page: <https://adamvoulstaker.com/>

Mr. Voulstaker has formally reported the matter to New Zealand Police and is continuing to document all incidents. He is also actively gathering information from any individuals who may have been affected by similar impersonation or harassment involving his name.

He strongly encourages anyone who has encountered suspicious accounts, fake content, or harassment using the name "Adam Voulstaker" to review the full statement on the official website and reach out via the contact form provided.

This public statement is issued to raise awareness, protect others from potential deception, and ensure the public has access to verified information directly from the source.
