

AgentDataHub.com Launches Real-Time B2B Data Infrastructure for AI Sales Agents and Agentic GTM Workflows

Northern Savonia, Finland Jun 29, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Clevenio's new platform gives AI sales agents structured, fresh, registry-verified B2B data — enabling autonomous prospecting without the data quality failures that ground most agentic deployments

AgentDataHub.com, a Clevenio product, today announced its launch as a dedicated B2B data infrastructure platform built for AI sales agents, agentic GTM workflows, and RevOps teams deploying autonomous outbound systems.

The rise of AI-powered sales agents—autonomous systems that research accounts, build lead lists, personalize outreach, and trigger sequences without human intervention—has exposed a fundamental weakness in most outbound stacks: the underlying data is too stale, too incomplete, and too unstructured for agents to act on reliably. AgentDataHub.com was purpose-built to solve this as the data layer.

The platform provides structured, registry-verified B2B company and contact data across multiple European markets, delivered via a clean API designed for agent consumption. Every record is refreshed on a weekly basis from official national business registries; includes verified email addresses at 97% deliverability; and is formatted as structured JSON that AI agents can parse, filter, and act on directly—without the manual cleaning step that consumes RevOps engineering time in most current deployments.

Key capabilities include real-time ICP filtering by industry, headcount, revenue band, seniority, and technology stack; job-change signals that allow agents to trigger re-engagement workflows automatically; and native integration with HubSpot, Pipedrive, and custom pipelines via API.

The platform is fully GDPR-compliant across all covered markets. Pricing and access details are available at agentdatahub.com.
