

AlphaNext Technology Solutions Enables AI-Powered Intelligent Manufacturing Operations for Sumato Foods Pvt. Ltd.

The collaboration aims to enhance operational efficiency, data-driven decision-making, and manufacturing agility through advanced AI-led automation and intelligence

Indore, Madhya Pradesh Jun 25, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Sumato Foods Pvt Ltd partnered with AlphaNext Technology Solutions to implement an AI-powered automation platform designed for utter visibility and Order intelligence, inventory, production, billing, reporting and Point Of Sales operations across multiple business locations.

As operational complexity increased with scale, the company required a centralized system capable of improving visibility, automating workflows, and reducing manual operational dependencies.

AlphaNext developed a unified intelligent platform connecting production centers, retail operations, inventory management, billing, and resource workflows into a single AI-powered ecosystem.

The solution includes:

- AI-powered inventory and operational management
- Automated order processing and billing workflows
- Integrated POS and production management
- Real-time operational visibility and analytics
- Multi-location workflow automation
- Intelligent resource and inventory tracking

Speaking about the collaboration, Rohit Ghorpade, Managing Director, Sumato Foods Pvt Ltd, shared:

“Managing multiple orders from POS to different factories was a big challenge for us. Also visibility across inventory, production, billing, human resources, and Point of Sales operations across multiple locations had become increasingly complex as we scaled. Alphanext's AI-powered automation platform unified our two production centers, retail operations, and resource management into a single intelligent system.

We now have real-time visibility into inventory, automated order processing, streamlined billing, and significantly improved operational efficiency. What previously required multiple manual interventions is now largely automated, allowing our team to focus on growth rather than administration.”

The collaboration reflects the growing adoption of AI-powered operational infrastructure across manufacturing and retail businesses seeking scalable automation and intelligent workflow management.
