

Anna Faris to Star in Tom Konkle's Sci-Fi Comedy Feature 'Leapfrog'

Scary Movie Star's Next Movie

Hollywood, California Jun 16, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - Lumen Actus Productions announced today that acclaimed comedic actress Anna Faris (Scary Movie, Mom) has officially joined the cast of the upcoming satirical science fiction comedy feature film, Leapfrog.

Faris is set to star as Aura, a central character in the film. Leapfrog is directed by multi-award-winning filmmaker Tom Konkle (Trouble Is My Business), with a screenplay co-written by Zander Schaus, who also serves as a producer on the project.

"We are incredibly excited to welcome Anna to the Leapfrog team," said Director Tom Konkle. "Her exceptional comedic timing and brilliant talent are the perfect fit for the sharp, satirical tone of this film, and we can't wait to bring the character of Aura to life with her."

The production is utilizing an efficient, lean independent filmmaking model that prioritizes high on-screen value, practical effects, and smart production design. Principal photography for the feature film is scheduled to begin this August.

Faris is best known for her iconic lead roles in the global Scary Movie franchise, The House Bunny, and her critically acclaimed run on CBS's hit sitcom Mom.

Additional casting and production updates will be announced in the coming weeks.
