

Bladder & Bowel Institute Celebrates Dr. Esther Han's Recognition as a Bulkamid™ Center of Excellence

McKinney, Texas Jun 30, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - Bladder & Bowel Institute (BBI) is proud to announce that Dr. Esther Han has been recognized by Boston Scientific as a Bulkamid™ Urethral Bulking System Center of Excellence at BBI's McKinney, Texas facility.

This designation recognizes achievement of Center of Excellence program requirements, including demonstrated proficiency in Bulkamid Urethral Bulking Agent implantation and a sustained commitment to patient and community education regarding urinary incontinence management.

“Receiving this recognition is an incredible honor,” said Dr. Esther Han. “Stress urinary incontinence can have a major impact on a woman’s confidence, daily routine, and quality of life. I am proud to offer patients in the Dallas-Fort Worth community access to advanced, minimally invasive treatment options like Bulkamid, and I am grateful to our entire BBI team for their commitment to compassionate, patient-centered care.”

Bulkamid is a urethral bulking treatment option for women experiencing bladder leaks caused by stress urinary incontinence. Stress urinary incontinence can occur during everyday activities such as coughing, sneezing, laughing, lifting, or exercising. For many women, symptoms can become frustrating, embarrassing, and limiting.

“At Bladder & Bowel Institute, our mission is to help patients regain confidence, dignity, and control,” said Jared Greer CEO of Bladder & Bowel Institute. “Dr. Han’s recognition as a Bulkamid Center of Excellence reflects the high standard of care she brings to our patients and the dedication of our BBI Dallas team. We are proud to celebrate this achievement and the continued expansion of advanced treatment options for women living with bladder leakage.”

The recognition also highlights BBI’s ongoing commitment to education. Through patient consultations, community outreach, and treatment discussions, the BBI team works to help women better understand their symptoms and available care options.

Patients who are experiencing bladder leaks or symptoms of stress urinary incontinence are encouraged to speak with a qualified healthcare provider to determine which treatment option may be appropriate for them.

For more information about Bladder & Bowel Institute, Dr. Han, and treatment options for bladder leakage, please visit www.bladderbowel.com or call (855) 224-4357.

Important Note: Center of Excellence designation is not a medical/clinical endorsement or recommendation by Boston Scientific. Patients should consult with their healthcare provider to determine whether Bulkamid or any treatment option is appropriate for their individual condition.

About Bladder & Bowel Institute

Bladder & Bowel Institute is dedicated to helping patients suffering from bladder and bowel control problems through advanced treatment options, education, and compassionate care. With locations serving patients across Texas, Arkansas and surrounding states, BBI focuses on improving quality of life for patients experiencing conditions such as overactive bladder, urinary incontinence, and bowel control issues.

About Bulkamid™

Bulkamid™ Urethral Bulking System is a minimally invasive treatment option for women with bladder leaks caused by stress urinary incontinence. The treatment involves the use of a water-based hydrogel that helps support the urethra with the goal of reducing leakage.

Media Contact

Bladder and Bowel Institute

*****@bladderbowel.com

(855) 224-4357

Arkansas | Texas

<https://bladderbowelinstitute.com/>

Source : www.bladderbowel.com

See on IssueWire