

Gartex Texprocess India 2026 Set to Showcase the Future of Garment and Textile Manufacturing in New Delhi

Delhi, India Jun 12, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - Gartex Texprocess India, one of the foremost trade events in India focusing on garment and textile manufacturing technologies, is all set to make a comeback to New Delhi from 6 to 8 August 2026 at Bharat Mandapam (Pragati Maidan). This exhibition will be attended by professionals, manufacturers, technology providers, sourcing experts, and other stakeholders from across the textile and garment industry value chain.

With India's textile and apparel industry evolving with the use of automation, digitalization, sustainability, and efficient manufacturing techniques, Gartex Texprocess India has emerged as an important event to highlight the technological developments that will drive the future of the industry.

The products offered at the expo in 2026 will be wide-ranging, covering areas such as garment machinery, textile machinery, digital textile printing machines, embroidery solutions, fabrics, accessories, screen printing machines, laundering solutions, smart manufacturing solutions, automated solutions, and software for apparel manufacturing.

The visitors will get an exclusive chance to observe demonstrations of sophisticated machines and equipment, which will help them assess how the latest technology can increase their efficiency and improve productivity and quality in their business. They will also get access to the top brands from both Indian and international markets who serve the textile and apparel industry.

In this era of growing demand for innovative manufacturing processes, Gartex Texprocess India still remains a highly relevant event, helping to drive the growth of the industry by bringing together buyers and sellers in one place. This trade fair is attended by a wide range of participants including garment manufacturers, exporters, buying houses, textile mills, printers, embroiderers, fabric suppliers, sourcing agencies, and retailers.

Apart from the exhibition, the participants would gain valuable knowledge through various industry discussions, networking, and insight into future trends that may impact the development of textile and apparel manufacturing.

One of the major centres for textile and apparel manufacturing in the world is India, and the modernization process of this industry creates many opportunities for companies interested in being successful on both domestic and international markets. It is the purpose of Gartex Texprocess India to facilitate the process of modernization and integration of innovations, technologies, and business.

Those who want to follow the trends in the market and find new business opportunities are welcome at the exhibition.
