

Odoo Software Through Direct Processing Network Expands AI, ERP & Payment Technologies

Miami, Florida Jun 16, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Direct Processing Network proudly announces its strategic partnership with Odoo as an Official Odoo Partner, marking a major milestone in the company's continued international expansion and commitment to delivering advanced business technology solutions across multiple industries worldwide.

This strategic partnership positions Direct Processing Network (DPN) to provide businesses with even more solutions to enhance their business operations using Odoo software, cloud ERP technology, and cloud based ERP systems that integrate payment processing, Point-of-Sale, invoicing, accounts receivable, eCommerce, CRM implementation, warehouse inventory tracking, and AI automations into one unified platform. Through this initiative, DPN will continue to support businesses throughout the United States, Puerto Rico, Canada, LATAM, and global markets in multiple languages.

As part of the company's investment into the Odoo ERP platform, DPN leadership and management teams — including CEO Jose Molina — are actively becoming certified Odoo experts to ensure clients receive high-level implementation support, consultation, and ongoing guidance tailored to their industries and operational goals.

“This partnership represents much more than software implementation,” said Jose Molina, CEO of Direct Processing Network. “It is a strategic investment into the future of global business technology. By becoming an Official Odoo Partner, we are expanding our ability to help businesses streamline operations, improve payment collection, automate workflows, implement ERP accounting solutions, and scale internationally with cloud based ERP systems that work across languages, countries, and industries. This strategic move is transforming our clientele footprint from being primarily international within North America and the Caribbean into a truly global reach, allowing us to support businesses around the world with scalable technology, payment, and automation solutions.”

The decision to partner with Odoo was highly strategic for Direct Processing Network due to the platform's ability to complement and integrate and substitute the use of many of the business technologies SMBs and enterprise operations use today such as QuickBooks, DocuSign, Salesforce. These limited business solutions can often create bottlenecks that limit the company's growth and hurt their bottom line.

Odoo's global accessibility and multilingual capabilities align directly with DPN's long-term vision of international growth and broader market reach. Because the platform is available in countries around the world and supports multiple languages, DPN is now positioned to better serve businesses operating domestically and internationally while helping clients centralize operations into one scalable cloud ERP ecosystem.

The partnership also strengthens DPN's core payment and financial technology offerings. Odoo's functionality surrounding ERP payments, invoicing, recurring billing, accounts receivable, payment collection, online payments, and retail and restaurant POS systems integrates seamlessly with Direct Processing Network's existing merchant services and payment infrastructure.

Businesses working with DPN can now benefit from expanded capabilities including:

- ERP implementation and customization
- Integrated payment processing and merchant account solutions
- ERP accounting and accounts receivable automation
- Online invoicing and recurring payments
- WhatsApp payment acceptance
- Retail and restaurant Point-of-Sale solutions
- eCommerce integrations
- CRM implementation and workflow automation
- AI automations and operational efficiencies
- Warehouse inventory tracking
- Cloud based ERP systems for growing businesses
- ERP software for small businesses
- Multi-location and multi-country operational support

By becoming an Official Odoo Partner, Direct Processing Network continues to strengthen its footprint across diverse industries while creating new opportunities to support businesses entering new territories, languages, and global markets. As an official Odoo partner, DPN also looks to add new job opportunities in their local South Florida and global markets that they serve.

This strategic move reflects DPN's long-term mission of helping businesses modernize operations through innovative payment technologies, software integrations, automation, cloud based ERP solutions, and consultative support.
