

Step Inside the Sound: IRRIDESCENT DRUMS Takes Over FEED This Friday

Get ready for a mind-bending collision of live acoustic percussion, cinematic synths, and immersive visual art that will completely redefine your weekend.

Erie, Pennsylvania Jun 16, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - IRRIDESCENT DRUMS (iD) Brings Immersive, Multisensory Electronic Performance to FEED Media Center This Friday

This Friday, FEED Media Center is set to host an unforgettable sonic and visual journey with IRRIDESCENT DRUMS (iD). Blurring the boundaries between live concert, interactive installation, livestream, and multimedia showcase, iD offers an evolving sensory experience that redefines electronic performance art.

Built on the concept of rhythm as color and emotion, IRRIDESCENT DRUMS merges acoustic and electronic percussion, immersive sound design, and cinematic atmospheres. By combining ambient textures, live sampling, vocals, and raw visual energy, the collective crafts performances that feel deeply intimate yet explosively energetic.

Meet the Collective

What began as an experimental percussion and electronic project has blossomed into a dynamic collective of musicians, producers, engineers, and creatives dedicated to transforming live music:

- Geo (“CUZIMGEO”) – Founder & Electronic Director: The electronic architect behind iD. Through synthesizers, live manipulation, DJing, and production, Geo shapes the atmospheric sound design that serves as the collective's foundation.

- Jarid Mills (“ND3VR”) – Co-Founder & Creative Director: Bringing the rhythmic heartbeat to iD. Combining acoustic drums with electronic percussion and live-triggered elements, Jarid drives the emotionally resonant sensory experiences and live arrangements.
- Marcus (“MrkyMidasTouch”) – Keyboardist & Guitarist: Infusing the group's sound with harmonic atmosphere and emotional texture. His R&B-influenced production, ambient drones, and live sample integration add profound warmth and musical fluidity.
- Najwa (“Najwa.Is”) – Vocalist & Audio Engineer: Expanding the collective beyond instrumentation into compelling, emotionally driven storytelling. Her vocal experimentation, songwriting, and engineering expertise help guide both the technical and creative direction of the project.

"iD exists to transform rhythm into a shared emotional and sensory experience through collaborative performance, immersive sound, and evolving artistic experimentation."

About IRRIDESCENT DRUMS

Founded by Geo and co-founded by Jarid Mills, IRRIDESCENT DRUMS (iD) was born from an experimental fusion of live instrumentation and electronic music culture. Today, the collective operates at the intersection of sound, atmosphere, and emotional expression. By continually merging live instruments—such as drums, synths, and guitars—with electronic performance culture, cinematic sound design, and live sampling, iD creates boundary-pushing multimedia showcases designed to move audiences both physically and emotionally.

Presented in Partnership with Erie Art Company & FEED

This Friday's performance is proudly presented by the Erie Art Company and hosted at the FEED Media Art Center. Serving as a vital hub for digital media, experimental expression, and the intersection of art and technology, FEED provides the ideal environment for iD's audiovisual explorations. The ongoing development of innovative programming, immersive galleries, and hands-on creative lab spaces at FEED is made possible through the generous backing of regional sponsors and vital grant funders, including foundational support from the mediathe foundation inc. and Erie Arts & Culture.
