

Switch to Commercial FOGO Liners with Environmental Resources

Environmental Resources has built a strong reputation for supplying dependable compostable products, including eco-friendly bin liners Australian businesses can trust.

Tullamarine, Victoria Jun 17, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - As businesses, councils, schools, hospitality venues, and waste management providers continue to embrace sustainable waste practices, Environmental Resources is helping organisations make the transition easier with its premium range of commercial FOGO liners. Designed to support Food Organics and Garden Organics (FOGO) collection programmes, these compostable liners offer a practical and environmentally responsible solution for managing organic waste.

Supporting Sustainable Packaging Australia through Smarter Waste Solutions

Australia's growing commitment to reducing landfill waste has increased the demand for reliable compostable products that align with modern waste diversion initiatives. Environmental Resources is proud to contribute to the future of sustainable packaging in Australia by supplying high-quality compostable liners that help businesses and communities manage organic waste more effectively.

The company's commercial FOGO liners are manufactured to perform in demanding commercial environments while supporting composting programmes that reduce environmental impact. These liners are suitable for councils, food service providers, aged care facilities, educational institutions, and businesses looking to improve sustainability outcomes.

Why Businesses Are Choosing Commercial FOGO Liners

Organisations across Australia are making the switch because compostable liners offer several key benefits:

- Improve food and organic waste collection efficiency
- Reduce contamination in FOGO waste streams
- Support landfill diversion initiatives
- Help meet sustainability and environmental goals
- Provide a cleaner and more convenient waste management process.

A Trusted Choice for Eco-Friendly Bin Liners in Australia

Environmental Resources has built a strong reputation for supplying dependable compostable products, including eco-friendly bin liners Australian businesses can trust. The company's compostable range supports both commercial and household composting applications while ensuring durability and ease of use.

Every item in our compostable range is certified to AS 4736 and AS 5810, the nationally recognised benchmarks for commercial and home compostability. These certifications provide customers with confidence that the products meet Australia's recognised compostability standards and can contribute to effective organic waste processing programmes.

A spokesperson for Environmental Resources said, "Businesses and communities are increasingly seeking practical solutions that support sustainability goals without compromising performance." Our commercial FOGO liners are designed to make organic waste collection easier while supporting the broader movement towards sustainable packaging in Australia and responsible waste management practices."

Driving Better Environmental Outcomes across Australia

As demand for eco-friendly bin liners in Australia continues to grow, Environmental Resources remains committed to delivering innovative compostable products that support a circular economy. By helping organisations transition to certified compostable solutions, the company plays an important role in reducing waste sent to landfill and supporting Australia's sustainability objectives.

For organisations looking to improve waste management processes and contribute to a cleaner future, switching to commercial FOGO liners from Environmental Resources is a practical step towards long-term environmental responsibility.

About Environmental Resources:

Environmental Resources is an Australian supplier of sustainable packaging and compostable waste management solutions. The company provides a wide range of environmentally responsible products, including compostable bags, bin liners, food packaging, and commercial FOGO liners designed to support councils, businesses, institutions, and waste management programmes throughout Australia. With a strong focus on quality, compliance, and sustainability, Environmental Resources helps organisations achieve their environmental goals through certified compostable solutions.

Media Contact

Environmental Resources

@environmentalresources.com.au

1300 246 883

8/189B S Centre Rd

<https://environmentalresources.com.au/>

Source : Environmental Resources

See on IssueWire