New York City, New York Jun 25, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Moscow, 2026. Digital agency Vzlet Media announces the launch of a search engine optimization (SEO) service for English-language websites. This service is aimed at companies planning to enter international markets and seeking stable organic traffic from Google in the US, UK, EU countries, and other English-speaking regions.

Why is English-language SEO important for business?

English-language SEO is search engine optimization (SEO) aimed at promoting a website in the English-language Google segment, taking into account linguistic, cultural, and regional characteristics. The same strategy can work differently in the US, Canada, UK, and Australia, so tasks are distributed among geographic clusters, and semantics, content, and link profiles are adapted to specific markets.

The most common mistake when entering the international market is transferring Russian SEO templates without considering the specifics of the Western market: literally translating keywords, ignoring search intent, and ignoring local web development standards. The agency's team develops a strategy from scratch for each region.

What's included in the service:

- SEO audit and strategy development: website, competitor, and market analysis
- Semantic keyword collection and clustering based on search queries
- Content preparation and localization into English for the target audience
- Technical optimization: loading speed, mobile responsiveness, correct indexing
- External promotion and brand reputation building in the international information space

Results in numbers

The agency does not guarantee specific search results positions (this contradicts the principles of professional SEO), but relies on measurable performance indicators.

Who is this service suitable for?

This service is especially relevant for Russian companies planning to enter Western markets, international brands requiring local expertise, startups with English-language projects, and e-commerce platforms targeting the US and Europe. For more information about the service and pricing, see the "SEO for English-Language Websites" section.
