

Activate Fire Safety Expands Alberta Suppression Maintenance Program

Activate is extending its fire suppression system inspection services across Alberta to help commercial property owners meet rising insurer documentation requirements.

Calgary, Alberta Jul 17, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - Activate Fire Safety, a CFAA-certified fire protection company based in Calgary, is expanding its fire suppression system maintenance program across Alberta. The company is responding to increased insurer pressure on commercial building owners to produce verified, timestamped compliance records. The expansion takes effect immediately and covers commercial and residential properties province-wide.

Why Alberta Commercial Properties Are Under Greater Compliance Pressure

Alberta insurers have tightened documentation requirements for fire suppression systems over the past two years. Properties without current inspection records face coverage gaps or premium increases at renewal. Activate Fire Safety has operated in this market since 2004, giving it 22 years of field experience navigating provincial and national compliance standards. The company holds ULC-listed and FM-approved credentials, which are the two primary third-party certification marks that Alberta insurers and authorities having jurisdiction recognize.

"Commercial kitchen operators and property managers are asking us the same question right now: what does an insurer actually need to see? The answer is a timestamped inspection report, a documented deficiency log, and proof that repairs were completed. We built our program to produce exactly that on every visit." Alan Reti, Founder and Lead Inspector, Activate Fire Safety

The expanded program covers fire sprinkler inspections, kitchen suppression inspections for commercial cooking environments, fire pump testing, and hood suppression system servicing. Kitchen suppression systems, which protect restaurant cooking surfaces and exhaust ducts from grease fires, require semi-annual inspection under NFPA 96. Activate Fire Safety documents every inspection through BuildingReports, a digital platform that generates timestamped records and tracks open deficiencies through to resolution. Clients can access their full compliance history through a single online record.

Bundled Services Reduce Cost While Closing Compliance Gaps

Activate Fire Safety structures its suppression maintenance visits to include related fire safety services in one scheduled appointment. Clients who combine commercial fire suppression inspection with fire alarm testing, emergency lighting inspection, or extinguisher maintenance save up to 30 percent compared to booking each service separately. The company performs same-day deficiency repairs on common faults when parts are available on the service vehicle, reducing the number of follow-up visits required to close an inspection report.

"We switched to Activate two years ago after our previous provider left open items on our inspection report for months. The same-day repair process made a real difference when our insurer asked for a clean deficiency log at renewal." Regional facilities manager, multi-site Alberta restaurant group (name withheld at request)
