The new platform is designed to help forex brokerages manage client onboarding, lead management, compliance workflows, and daily operations through a centralized system.

The launch comes as many forex brokers continue to adopt digital tools to streamline business processes and improve operational efficiency. Alpharive developed the platform to reduce the need for multiple software applications by bringing essential brokerage functions together in a single dashboard.

"Managing a brokerage involves much more than executing trades," said Senthil Kumar, Founder of Alpharive. "Brokers also need efficient systems for client management, compliance, sales, and customer support. Our Forex CRM Software was developed to simplify these workflows and provide teams with a centralized platform for day-to-day operations."

The platform includes tools for lead management, client onboarding, KYC and AML verification, support ticket management, reporting, and user administration. It also supports integration with MT4 and MT5 trading platforms, enabling brokerages to manage operational activities alongside their trading infrastructure.

According to Alpharive, the software is suitable for both new and established brokerages and can be configured to match different business requirements. The company also provides implementation support and onboarding assistance during deployment.

The release of the Forex CRM Software expands Alpharive's portfolio of fintech solutions for the financial services industry. The company develops software for trading platforms, brokerage management, financial automation, and custom enterprise applications for businesses operating in global markets.

The Forex CRM Software is now available for brokerage firms seeking a centralized platform to manage customer relationships and operational workflows.
