18-Year Nursing Professional Combines Trauma Care Expertise with Public Health Focus to Support Vulnerable Populations

Wylie, Texas Jul 10, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - Jillian Greiner, a Registered Nurse with 18 years of clinical experience in the Dallas–Fort Worth healthcare system, is recognized for her expanding leadership in forensic nursing and trauma-informed care. Her career reflects a sustained commitment to supporting patients during acute medical crises while also advancing broader population health outcomes through education, advocacy, and specialized clinical practice.

Jillian Greiner currently serves as a forensic nurse contracted with Medical City Hospitals, where she provides expert, compassionate care to survivors of sexual abuse, domestic violence, interpersonal violence, child abuse, and elder abuse. Her role spans both adult and pediatric populations and requires close collaboration with multidisciplinary teams, including law enforcement, emergency medicine physicians, social services, and hospital-based advocacy programs.

In her forensic nursing practice, Greiner applies trauma-informed principles to ensure that patient care prioritizes dignity, emotional safety, and evidence-based clinical assessment. She is also responsible for the collection of forensic evidence and documentation that may support legal proceedings, requiring precision, neutrality, and advanced clinical judgment in high-stakes environments.

Prior to specializing in forensic nursing, Greiner developed extensive pediatric experience at Cook Children's Medical Center in Fort Worth and Children's Medical Center in Dallas. These roles strengthened her foundation in acute care nursing and deepened her expertise in managing complex pediatric conditions. She later expanded her healthcare perspective by working in utilization management within the insurance sector, where she evaluated hospital admissions and length-of-stay determinations using established clinical guidelines. This experience provided her with a systems-level understanding of healthcare delivery, resource allocation, and care efficiency.

Greiner earned a Bachelor of Science in Nursing from Texas Woman's University following an earlier Bachelor's degree in Kinesiology and Health Promotion from the University of North Texas. She is currently completing a Master of Public Health (MPH) at Baylor University, further strengthening her focus on prevention, population health, and global health initiatives. Her academic progression reflects a continuous commitment to professional growth and evidence-based practice.

Beyond her clinical responsibilities, Greiner's professional mission centers on advocacy for vulnerable populations. She has expressed a long-term interest in expanding her impact globally, particularly in maternal, perinatal, and infant health initiatives through organizations such as UNICEF and Partners in Health. Her work is guided by a belief in compassionate, patient-centered care and the importance of supporting individuals during their most vulnerable moments.

Greiner holds multiple certifications, including Adult and Pediatric Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner credentials, Expert Witness Testimony Certification, Registered Nursing licensure, and American Heart Association CPR certification. She also participates in advocacy and public health education initiatives, including vaccine awareness and trauma-informed care outreach.

When reflecting on her career, Greiner emphasizes her dedication to caring for individuals at their most vulnerable, an interest that began early in her nursing training and has continued to shape her professional path. Her transition into forensic nursing represents a convergence of her clinical expertise and her interest in the investigative aspects of healthcare, allowing her to serve patients in both healing and justice-focused capacities.

As she continues her career, Greiner remains focused on expanding her contributions to forensic nursing and advancing equitable access to compassionate, evidence-based care across diverse populations.
