

Daniel K. Powell, MD: Advancing Patient Care Through Expertise in Diagnostic and Oncologic Radiology

Board-Certified Radiologist Combines Advanced Image-Guided Procedures, Academic Leadership, and a Commitment to Compassionate Medicine

Germantown, Tennessee Jul 24, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Daniel K. Powell, MD, is a board-certified radiologist specializing in diagnostic, vascular, and oncologic radiology. With more than 14 years of experience, he performs minimally invasive, image-guided procedures to diagnose and treat a wide range of complex conditions.

Since joining West Cancer Center in Germantown, Tennessee, in 2015, Dr. Powell has been committed to expanding access to advanced treatment options for patients with complex medical conditions while supporting the continued growth of cancer care and radiology education.

In his clinical practice, Dr. Powell specializes in image-guided interventions designed to provide effective, minimally invasive solutions for a wide range of conditions. His expertise allows patients to benefit from innovative procedures that can reduce recovery times, improve treatment precision, and support comprehensive care plans developed in collaboration with multidisciplinary healthcare teams.

In addition to his role at West Cancer Center, Dr. Powell serves as an Assistant Professor at the University of Tennessee Health Science Center, where he contributes to the education and mentorship of future physicians. He also serves on the Board of Directors at West Cancer Center, helping guide organizational initiatives and supporting the advancement of patient-centered healthcare services.

Dr. Powell's journey into medicine was shaped by personal experience and a desire to make a meaningful difference in the lives of others. Originally studying literature at Yale University, he was inspired to pursue medicine after losing his father to cancer during his college years. This experience became a defining moment that led him to complete a post-baccalaureate program and pursue a career focused on improving patient outcomes.

He earned his Medical Degree from Jefferson Medical College, now known as Sidney Kimmel Medical College at Thomas Jefferson University, in 2009. Following medical school, he completed his internship before pursuing diagnostic radiology residency training at Mount Sinai Beth Israel from 2010 to 2014. Dr. Powell then completed a fellowship in interventional radiology at New York-Presbyterian/Columbia University from 2014 to 2015. He is board-certified in both diagnostic radiology and vascular & interventional radiology.

Outside of medicine, Dr. Powell remains committed to lifelong learning and personal growth. He continues to engage in radiology research and publications while enjoying gardening, reading, and exploring the arts.

Through his combination of technical expertise, academic involvement, and compassionate approach to care, Dr. Daniel K. Powell continues to advance the field of radiology while helping patients access innovative, minimally invasive treatment options. His career reflects a dedication to excellence, discovery, and improving healthcare through both clinical practice and medical education.
