

Malgorzata Zielonka, PharmD, MBA, Leads Innovation and Excellence in Inpatient Pharmacy Services

Experienced Pharmacy Director Combines Clinical Expertise, Global Perspective, and Healthcare Leadership to Advance Patient Care

Cincinnati, Ohio Jul 24, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Malgorzata Zielonka, PharmD, MBA, is a respected clinical pharmacist and pharmacy leader with more than two decades of experience in inpatient and rehabilitation hospital pharmacy services. As the Director Manager of Pharmacy at a rehabilitation hospital in Cincinnati, she oversees clinical pharmacy operations, medication management systems, regulatory compliance, and interdisciplinary collaboration to ensure the highest standards of pharmaceutical care for medically complex patients.

Throughout her career, Dr. Zielonka has remained dedicated to improving patient outcomes through evidence-based medication management and collaborative healthcare delivery. Working closely with physicians, nurses, therapists, and other healthcare professionals, she plays an integral role in optimizing therapies, enhancing patient safety, and supporting successful recovery for individuals receiving inpatient rehabilitation services.

“What I enjoy most about practicing pharmacy is the ability to directly impact patient outcomes through safe and effective medication use,” says Dr. Zielonka. “I find it especially rewarding to work within an interdisciplinary team, where collaboration allows us to improve care for medically complex patients. Being able to support recovery, optimize therapies, and contribute to patient safety in an inpatient setting gives deep meaning to my work.”

Dr. Zielonka earned her Doctor of Pharmacy (PharmD) Degree from Midwestern University in 2005, joining an early generation of clinical pharmacy graduates who helped shape today’s patient-centered pharmacy practice. Shortly after graduation, she expanded her professional experience internationally by working as a traveling pharmacist throughout Europe. This unique opportunity provided valuable insight into diverse healthcare systems and strengthened her understanding of evolving clinical pharmacy models on a global scale.

Recognizing the importance of leadership in healthcare, Dr. Zielonka also earned a Master of Business Administration in International Business from Wright State University. She further enhanced her professional qualifications by completing advanced certification coursework through Case Western Reserve University, combining clinical expertise with business acumen and healthcare management. Her commitment to lifelong learning continues today through ongoing studies focused on artificial intelligence applications in healthcare, positioning her to embrace emerging technologies that can improve pharmacy practice and patient care.

An active member of both the American Heart Association and the American Pharmacists Association, Dr. Zielonka remains engaged in continuing education, professional development, and initiatives that advance cardiovascular health and pharmaceutical practice. Her participation in these organizations reflects her dedication to staying current with industry advancements while contributing to the continued evolution of the profession.

Known for her clinical excellence, international perspective, and innovative leadership, Dr. Zielonka continues to make meaningful contributions to inpatient pharmacy services. As healthcare continues to evolve, she remains committed to advancing safe, effective medication management, mentoring future pharmacy professionals, and integrating new technologies that enhance patient outcomes and strengthen the delivery of high-quality healthcare.
