Dedicated to helping patients achieve improved function, reduced pain, and enhanced quality of life, Dr. Hartley provides comprehensive brain and spine care incorporating the latest surgical and non-surgical advancements.

His expertise encompasses minimally invasive spine surgery, non-invasive and non-traumatic spine care, artificial disc implantation, and innovative pain relief techniques. Through a patient-centered approach, Dr. Hartley works to identify individualized treatment options designed to support recovery and help patients return to the activities they value.

After earning his Medical Degree from the University of Colorado Health Sciences Center School of Medicine in 2001, Dr. Hartley completed his internship and neurosurgery residency at SUNY Upstate Medical University in New York, completing his training in 2008. His extensive education and clinical experience have established a strong foundation for his work in modern neurosurgical and spine care.

Board-certified in neurological surgery by the American Board of Neurological Surgery, Dr. Hartley is also a Fellow of the American Association of Neurological Surgeons. He maintains professional involvement with leading organizations, including the North American Spine Society and the Congress of Neurological Surgeons, reflecting his ongoing commitment to advancing his knowledge and contributing to the field.

Beyond his clinical responsibilities, Dr. Hartley is passionate about education and regularly teaches advanced spine surgery techniques to medical professionals nationally and internationally. He believes that continued education and innovation are essential to improving outcomes and expanding treatment possibilities for patients.

At the heart of Dr. Hartley's practice is a commitment to treating every patient with the same compassion, respect, and attention he would offer his own family. By combining technical expertise with individualized care, he strives to provide patients with treatment pathways that address their unique needs and goals.

Outside of medicine, Dr. Hartley enjoys an active outdoor lifestyle, including ATV riding, volleyball, camping, jet skiing, and boating. He particularly values spending time with his family and watching his children grow. Key West, Florida, remains a favorite vacation destination.

Through his leadership at Panacea Brain and Spine Healing & Wellness Center, dedication to education, and pursuit of innovative treatment, Dr. Chad Hartley continues to advance comprehensive neurosurgical care while keeping patient well-being at the center of his work.
