Radio Day YouTube Momentum Boost, a campaign developed in recognition of National Radio Day and its focus on music discovery. The initiative is designed to assist independent musicians and video creators seeking to expand their promotional reach on YouTube.

The campaign will run from August 23 to August 30, 2026, providing a 10% price reduction on eligible YouTube promotion packages. It will be available to singers, rappers, music producers, and other independent artists using the platform.

The initiative is intended to support independent artists looking for additional opportunities to promote their music in a competitive digital environment. The company provides different YouTube promotion services based on customers' requirements and budgets.

YouTube's algorithm cannot be controlled by any promotional campaign, and the company does not claim otherwise. Music Promotion Club does not guarantee streams, followers, or specific promotional results. Campaign performance may vary depending on factors such as video and music quality, campaign selection, and audience response.

Its services include advertising campaign management and content marketing, as well as in-stream and discovery campaigns. These services are designed to complement artists' existing marketing efforts and help introduce their videos to relevant audiences.

Music Promotion Club developed the National Radio Day YouTube Momentum Boost to recognize the role of music discovery while making selected promotional services more accessible to independent musicians with different budgets. Eligible artists can review the available services and select packages suited to their individual goals and promotional requirements.

"Independent musicians often have to make difficult decisions about promotion because of limited budgets," says a company spokesperson. "Through the National Radio Day YouTube Momentum Boost, we aim to make selected YouTube promotion packages more accessible while maintaining clear expectations about how promotional campaigns work."

YouTube artists can review the available services and receive 10% lower pricing on eligible packages from August 23 through August 30, 2026. Artists are encouraged to review the applicable terms, conditions, and eligibility criteria on the website before placing an order.
